Section II

Please check all applicable differences between the listed firearm safety device and the firearm safety device for which listing is sought as a similar model. You must also provide photographs of the approved and similar safety device depicting the changes marked below.

California Code of Regulations, title 11, section 4093, subdivision (c)(2)(C) states that a model of firearm safety device made by the same manufacturer must already be listed on the Firearm Safety Device Roster and the device submitted for approval pursuant to this subsection shall differ from the listed firearm safety device in only the following:

1. ☐ Finish, including, but not limited to, color or engraving.
Explanation: _____
2. ☐ Any feature that does not in any way alter the material or functioning of any of the components of the firearm safety device. Dimensional changes in a firearm safety device may be approved by the Department of Justice without additional testing on a case-by-case basis when the dimensional changes do not alter the device's ability to operate in the same manner demonstrated in the laboratory.
Explanation: _____
3. ☐ Change in name or model number without affecting the design or function of the firearm safety device.
Explanation: _____
