

DEUCES WILD CASINO
CRAZY PINEAPPLE GAME RULES

I. Name of game:

Crazy Pineapple – This game is played with the same structure as Texas Hold'em, except that all players will receive three cards on the initial deal. After the flop and before 4th street, all active players are required to discard one card from their initial three cards. Failure to do so, will result in a fouled hand. After the final round of betting a player may use any five-card combination from among the board and personal cards. The player who has the highest five-card combination and the player with the lowest five-card combination that is “eight or better” will share the pot accordingly.

II. Does the game use a “standard” 52-card deck, or other type of card deck?

The game is played with a standard 52-card deck, which does not include the joker.

III. Who deals the cards?

- 1. The dealer deals three down cards to each player starting clockwise from the dealer button followed by a round of betting.
- 2. The dealer burns one card and exposes three cards in the center of the table (flop) and another round of betting occurs.
- 3. The dealer announces, “Players please discard.”
- 4. The dealer mucks each players discards.
- 5. The dealer burns one card and exposes one card in the center of the table (turn card) and another round of betting occurs.
- 6. The dealer burns one card and exposes one card in the center of the table (river card) and then a round of betting occurs.
- 7. Players may fold prior to or during any betting round.
- 8. Players expose their hands and the dealer pushes the pot to the winner.

IV. How many players does the game involved?

All Crazy Pineapple games allow up to eleven (11) participants.

V. How and when are the house fees collected?

See attached.

VI. What is the betting limit?

See attached.

VII. What is the betting scheme?

All Crazy Pineapple games have a fixed-limit betting or flex-limit betting (No Limit or Pot Limit). In fixed limit, the betting limit after the fourth board card (turn card) is exposed is twice the amount of the betting limit before, check-and-raise is permitted, and a bet and three raisers are allowed in all multi-handed pots.

VIII. How are the winners determined and paid?

The player with the best five-card combination is the winner. The following are the general categories of hands in descending order of value:

- 1. Royal Flush
- 2. Straight Flush
- 3. Four of a Kind
- 4. Full House
- 5. Flush
- 6. Straight (ace, 2, 3, 4, and 5 is the smallest straight)
- 7. Three of a Kind
- 8. Two Pairs
- 9. One Pair
- 10. No Pair (high single card)

The player with the lowest five-card combination that is “eight or better” will share the pot.

After the winner has been determined, the winning hand is left face up on the table so all players can see it, the dealer then pushes the pot to the winner.

In case there are two or more players splitting the pot and there is an odd chip:

If it is between high hand and low hand, the odd chip will be awarded to the high hand.

If there is an odd chip between the high hands, it will be awarded to the first player left of the button.

If there is an odd chip between low hands, it will be awarded to the first player left of the button.

In Hi-Lo games, in the event there is one or more qualifying high or low hands those players are entitled to split their share of the pot.

IX. Describe a “round of play.”

Blinds are posted before the players look at their cards. The small blind is posted by the player immediately clockwise from the button, and the big blind is posted by the player two positions clockwise from the button. The player to the left of the blinds initiates action on the first betting round. On all subsequent betting rounds, the action begins with the first active player to the left of the dealer button. After each hand the dealer button will move clockwise to the next active player.

On the first round all players will receive two cards as their personal hand followed by a round of betting. Three board cards are turned simultaneously (called the “flop”) followed by a second round of betting.

The next two board cards are turned one at a time, with a round of betting after each card. The board cards are community cards, and after the final round of betting, a player may use any five-card combination from among the board and personal cards.

6. Players may fold prior to or during any betting round.
7. Players expose their hands and the dealer pushes the pot to the winner.

IV. How many players does the game involved?

All Razz games allow up to eight (8) participants.

V. How and when are the house fees collected?

See attached.

VI. What is the betting limit?

See attached.

VII. What is the betting scheme?

The player with the highest card (aces are low) on the opening round is required to make the forced bet. The player with the lowest hand on the board acts first on subsequent rounds of betting. The betting structure for Razz is the same as in Seven-Card Stud except that an open pair does not affect the betting limit.

VIII. How are the winners determined and paid?

The winning hand is determined by comparing the highest cards in the five-card combination hand, ace is lowest card. If the highest cards tie, compare the second highest cards in each hand and so forth.

Example:

- 1. A high hand consists of 8-4-3-2-ace against a 7-6-5-4-3. The 7 high wins.
- 2. A hand consists of 6-5-4-2-ace against a hand 6-5-3-2-ace. The hand with 3 wins because it is lower than 4.

If two or more players tie, they will split the pot equally.

In case there are two or more players splitting the pot and there is an odd chip, it will be awarded to the player who has the lowest card by suit in his or her personal cards.

IX. Describe a “round of play.”

Players ante before the cards are dealt, the dealing of cards always starts from the first player clockwise from the casino dealer. One card at a time, each player will receive two down cards, then one up card (3rd street). The first betting round starts with the player that has the highest card by suits (from highest to lowest, spades, hearts, diamonds, and clubs, the suits are only used to determine which player will initiate the action).

Seven Card Stud Hi Lo Eight or Better

II. Does the game use a “standard” 52-card deck, or other type of card deck?

The game is played with a 52-card deck, which does not include the joker.

III. Who deals the cards?

1. The dealer deals each player two down cards and one up card then a round of betting occurs.
2. The dealer burns one card and deals each remaining player one up card followed by a round of betting.
3. The dealer burns one card and deals each remaining player one up card followed by a round of betting.
4. The dealer burns one card and deals each remaining player one up card followed by a round of betting.
5. The dealer burns one card and deals each remaining player one down card followed by a round of betting.
6. Players may fold prior to or during any betting round.
7. Players expose their hands and the dealer pushes the pot to the winner.

IV. How many players does the game involved?

All Seven Card Stud games allow up to eight (8) participants.

V. How and when are the house fees collected?

See attached.

VI. What is the betting limit?

See attached.

VII. What is the betting scheme?

In all of the fixed-limit games, the smaller bet must be wagered on the first two betting rounds (the 3rd and 4th streets) except if an open pair is showing on the 4th street. On 4th street players may hand an option to use the higher limit with an open pair. Once the higher limit has been used the lower limit will not be an option. Beginning from the 5th street until the conclusion of the game the larger bet is wagered; checking and raising is also permitted. One bet and three raisers are allowed in all of the multi-player pots.

VIII. How are the winners determined and paid?

The players who have the highest and the lowest five-card combination hands will share the pot. The only restriction for the low hands to win or to share the pot is that the player's low hand must contain a value of eight or better.

The following are the general categories of hands in descending order of value:

1. Royal Flush
2. Straight Flush
3. Four of a Kind
4. Full House
5. Flush
6. Straight (ace, 2, 3, 4, and 5 is the smallest straight)
7. Three of a Kind
8. Two Pairs
9. One Pair
10. No Pair (high single card)

Once the winner is identified, the winning hand should remain face up. The hand must also be positioned so that it is visible to all other participants. The pot is awarded to the winning players.

When splitting a pot, the dealer must always split the larger denominations of chips first. If there is an odd chip as a result of the split, that chip is awarded to the:

1. High hand, if both high and low hands are in play.
2. High hand with the highest card by suit, if two high hands are in play.
3. Low hand with the lowest card by suit, if two low hands are in play.

In Hi-Lo games in the event there is one or more qualifying high or low hands those players are entitled to split their share of the pot.

IX. Describe a "round of play."

All active players ante. The player with the lowest card up by suit must initiate the action. Aces are considered to be the highest cards and the suit hierarchy in a descending order is: spades, hearts, diamonds, and clubs. The value of the suits is only used to determine the acting player and it does not determine or influence the winning hand in any form. After completing the first betting round, all of the active players will receive one more up card followed by another round of betting, completing the 4th street. The above process will continue until the 6th street during which all of the active players will have four up cards. All remaining players will receive the 7th street face down. The final betting round will start after completion of the final betting round. Players will show their hands to decide the winner.
