Dear Secretary Azar and Administrator Verma:

The undersigned State Attorneys General of California, Michigan, North Carolina, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, the District of Columbia, Hawai‘i, Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, and Washington urge the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) to develop and implement immediately an outreach plan to inform the millions of Americans who have already or will lose their employer-sponsored health insurance coverage of the Special Enrollment Period that is available to them through Healthcare.gov and state-based marketplaces.1 In the midst of this unprecedented international healthcare crisis, millions of Americans are suffering or will suffer the dual loss of their livelihood and their family’s healthcare coverage. It is incumbent upon the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to provide those Americans the information and tools needed to navigate their healthcare options. The Affordable Care Act (ACA) specifically contemplates the need for adaptability to help people in these circumstances maintain coverage. 42 U.S.C. § 18031(c)(6)(B).

The ACA requires the HHS Secretary to provide for yearly open enrollment periods on the Exchanges. 42 U.S.C. § 18031(c)(6)(B). Outside of this period, individuals may enroll in coverage through the exchange only if they qualify for a special enrollment period due to certain

1 This letter is a follow up to the multi-state letter sent on April 3, 2020, that urged HHS to open a special enrollment period to allow all uninsured individuals to obtain coverage due to the unprecedented circumstances of the COVID-19 pandemic. life events such as loss of employment for individuals whose employers provided healthcare coverage. See id. § 18031(c)(6); 26 U.S. Code § 9801(f). Informing individuals of the potential for replacing the coverage they have lost through Healthcare.gov and state-based marketplaces is vital, as most Americans obtain their healthcare coverage through their employer. In 2018, for example, over half, or 55.1%, of individuals under age 65 had insurance through an employer.²

The importance of this outreach will only increase as the economic upheaval caused by this crisis continues to expand. A new study by the Health Management Associates estimates that the number of people receiving coverage from an employer could decline by up to 35 million, including both workers and covered family members, due to layoffs caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.³ This same study estimates that the economic impact to the labor market could disproportionately impact the roughly 58 million non-elderly individuals who have employer-sponsored coverage and earn less than $50,000 per year.⁴ This heavily hit population would greatly benefit from learning that they qualify for subsidies to help pay for healthcare coverage.

Recent polling indicates that awareness of coverage options even during the regular open enrollment period remains low among marketplace-insured and eligible uninsured. It is therefore likely that awareness about this Special Enrollment Period for the recent laid-off is even lower.⁵ Concerns about a lack of awareness are heavily fueled by the administration’s cuts to marketplace advertising and consumer assistance budgets.⁶ But the evidence indicates that marketplace advertising and consumer assistance works in increasing enrollment numbers and stabilizing markets. It is for this reason that states that run their own Exchanges, like California, continue to invest heavily in such activities to support their state-based marketplaces. Indeed, one report indicates that if the federal government conducted marketing and outreach at a level similar to Covered California, it could result in lower premiums and 2.1 million more enrollees.\textsuperscript{7} HHS, as the operator of Healthcare.gov, must step in to get the word out to those impacted in 38 States that rely on the federal exchange and to fill in gaps for state-based exchanges that do not have budgeted funds for this unexpected campaign. See, e.g., 42 U.S.C. § 18031(b)(1)(a); see also 45 C.F.R. § 155.205(e) (directing that the exchange must conduct outreach and education activities to educate consumers about the exchange and insurance affordability programs to encourage participation). HHS should also ensure that outreach materials are translated into the same range of languages as other HHS vital documents, in order to ensure meaningful access to information about the Special Enrollment Period.

We must empower individuals and working families across the country to pursue the best coverage option for them, whether it is Exchange coverage, COBRA, Medicare, Medicaid, or the Children’s Health Insurance Program. The federal government’s promise to reimburse for testing and treatment of COVID-19 for the uninsured\textsuperscript{8} is a step forward but it will not help provide recently unemployed Americans the comprehensive healthcare they may so desperately need to avoid large hospital and insurance bills in the long-run.

It is imperative that HHS actively and immediately implement outreach and education for consumers as directed under the Affordable Care Act. This will ensure that people across the country are informed and empowered to make the best decision about their healthcare options.

Sincerely,
