INTRODUCTION

Despite having the strongest gun safety laws and some of the lowest gun death rates in the country, an average of over 3,400 people are killed by a gun in California each year.¹

Licensed firearm dealers and other entities in California report records to the California Department of Justice (DOJ) regarding the sale or acquisition of hundreds of thousands of firearms each year. Law enforcement agencies across our state also report records pertaining to tens of thousands of firearms recovered as crime guns to DOJ annually. A “crime gun,” as used in this report, is defined as a firearm that was recovered by a law enforcement agency after it was (1) used in a crime, (2) suspected to have been used in a crime, or (3) illegally possessed.²

California is one of the few states that has established state law enforcement record systems about the legal sale and acquisition of firearms and about firearms recovered from crimes.³ By cross-referencing these DOJ record systems, DOJ seeks to match crime gun records with sale or acquisition records for that same firearm. This process is called crime gun “tracing” and can provide valuable information about how and when a firearm was converted from legal markets to illegal use or possession. The process can also identify patterns indicating whether firearms manufactured or sold by certain manufacturers or dealers, or in certain jurisdictions, are disproportionately likely to be recovered in a crime.

One of the responsibilities of DOJ is to ensure the state’s firearm laws are administered fairly, enforced vigorously, and understood uniformly throughout California. DOJ provides oversight, enforcement, education, and regulation of California’s firearm and dangerous weapon laws throughout 58 counties. DOJ provides instruction, information, and guidance to firearm dealers, ammunition vendors, firearms manufacturers, Centralized List of Exempted Federal Firearms Licensees, and gun show producers. In addition, DOJ conducts routine regulatory inspections in accordance with California law to ensure compliance by California’s firearms dealers and ammunition vendors. The program’s focus is to ensure that individuals engaged in the firearms business are in compliance with state laws and regulations. This report will, in part, discuss inspections and findings from those inspections completed by DOJ from 2020 to 2024.

AB 1191: Crime Guns

In 2021, California enacted Assembly Bill 1191 (AB 1191, McCarty), which requires DOJ to analyze “patterns and trends relating to recovered firearms that have been illegally possessed, used in a crime, or suspected to have been used in a crime, including the leading sources and origins of those firearms AB 1191 also requires DOJ to submit an annual report to the Legislature, starting in 2023, summarizing this crime gun tracing analysis and reporting specified information about crime guns recovered in the state, including the number of recovered crime guns traced to each firearm manufacturer and dealer where the most recent recorded sale or transfer of the firearm occurred. This report details the results of those analyses based on a review of records submitted to DOJ by local, state, and federal agencies.

California law directs DOJ to maintain a firearm records repository, called the Automated Firearms System (AFS),⁴ and requires various entities and individuals to submit records to DOJ for retention

- 1 Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) WONDER Online Database, Multiple Cause of Death Data for 2021-2023, www.wonder.cdc.gov (last accessed May 19, 2025).
- 2 California Penal Code section 11108.3 defines crime guns as “recovered firearms that are illegally possessed, have been used in a crime, or are suspected of having been used in a crime.”
- 3 GIFFORDS Law Center: <https://giffords.org/lawcenter/gun-laws/policy-areas/gun-sales/maintaining-records/>
- 4 The AFS is a repository of historical and law enforcement firearm records maintained by DOJ, as established by Penal Code section 11106. The AFS is populated by way of firearm acquisitions, purchases or transfers at a California in AFS, including information from lawfully recorded firearm sales and firearm-related permits and transactions. AFS tracks serial numbers of recorded firearms owned by government agencies, handled by law enforcement (seized, destroyed, held in evidence, reported stolen, or recovered), voluntarily recorded, or handled by a firearms dealer through transactions. A majority of the firearm-related records in AFS are submitted by California licensed firearm dealers, who are required to electronically report information to DOJ about firearms acquired, sold, or transferred by that dealer, including when dealers process a “private-party transfer” (PPT) firearm sale or transfer between two unlicensed individuals. Dealers are required to report information about each firearm, including the manufacturer, make, model, caliber, and serial number.

Additionally, California law requires state and local law enforcement agencies to report to DOJ “all available information necessary to identify and trace the history” of all crime guns recovered by that agency within seven calendar days of obtaining that information (Pen. Code § 11108.3).

To conduct this report’s analysis, DOJ reviewed all crime gun records submitted to DOJ between January 1, 2022, and December 31, 2024. Data is presented for crime guns reported to DOJ in the 2024 calendar year, as well as aggregated for the previous three calendar years from 2022 through 2024. DOJ sought to connect these crime gun records to other firearm records in AFS that contained matching information, including serial number, firearm manufacturer, caliber, and type (e.g., handgun or rifle). In cases where there was a complete match between information reported in the crime gun record and information reported in another AFS firearm record across all information fields, DOJ connected the crime gun to the manufacturer and, where possible, to a California firearm dealer associated with the most recent recorded transfer (or “source event”) for that firearm.

Nearly two-thirds (65%) of crime guns recovered in California in 2024 had no prior sale or transaction record that could be confirmed in AFS, and nearly three-quarters (73.6%) could not be traced to a specific dealer in California.

A crime gun may have no prior sale record in AFS for a number of reasons. This may indicate that the firearms were acquired, sold, or transferred illegally (e.g., not sold or transferred by a dealer in California), that they were illegally manufactured without serial numbers, or that their original serial numbers were illegally defaced. It could also indicate that the firearms were acquired outside of California and imported into California without being reported to DOJ, or that the firearms were legally owned but their ownership or sales were not reported to AFS.⁵ As discussed in more detail below, various factors, including inconsistent and incomplete information in crime gun and AFS records submitted to DOJ can also prevent the department from being able to confirm that certain crime guns are a match with an AFS record. This may occur, for example, if a crime gun record has the same serial number and manufacturer as a reported sale record in AFS but the law enforcement agency reporting the crime gun reported the firearm as having a different caliber than the dealer that reported the sale.

Interstate gun trafficking plays a significant role in gun crime in California. As discussed in other DOJ reports, a large percentage of crime guns recovered in California are traced to sellers in other states where there are fewer gun safety regulations and safeguards, such as background check requirements. Analysis of crime gun data reported by the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) found that in 2021, just over 50% of the firearms recovered by law enforcement in California and successfully traced by ATF to a gun dealer were traced to dealers located in other states, especially licensed firearm dealer, registration of assault weapons and 50 BMG rifles (during specified registration periods), an individual’s report of firearm ownership to DOJ, Carry Concealed Weapons License records, or records entered by law enforcement agencies.

5 Note that 3% of all crime guns recovered in 2023 had a prior transfer or self-report of ownership (e.g., such as a report indicating a new California resident is bringing a firearm into California, or an intra-familial transfer). These firearms do not have sales history in AFS and contribute to the 65% of crime guns without sales records.

Arizona, Nevada, and Texas.⁶ These crime guns will not have a California Dealer Record of Sale associated with the firearm in AFS records.

Unserialized ghost guns also play a significant role in gun crime in California. A significant number of crime guns could not be traced to an AFS record because they had no identifying serial number. 32,063 crime guns entered in AFS between 2022 and 2024, and more than 9,200 entered in 2024 were recorded as unserialized in AFS.⁵ Many, though not all, of these unserialized crime guns were “ghost guns” produced or assembled without a serial number or other identifying markings by individuals who do not have a license to manufacture firearms.⁷ Some crime guns may also not have serial numbers if, for instance, the original manufacturer’s serial number was defaced or obliterated, or if the firearm was manufactured before the federal Gun Control Act of 1968. Crime guns may also be recorded as unserialized in AFS if the law enforcement agency that reported that weapon did not enter the serial number into AFS for some other reason.

Previously, California law generally did not require DOJ to record specific dealer information for transactions prior to 2010 and did not authorize DOJ to retain information for long gun sales and transfers conducted by dealers prior to 2014; as a result, handguns sold or transferred by a dealer prior to 2010 may not be traced to a specific dealer, and rifles and shotguns acquired, sold, or transferred by a dealer prior to 2014 would generally not be associated with a California dealer in AFS records. Finally, firearms that were acquired, sold, or transferred by California dealers would not be recorded in AFS if the dealer unlawfully failed to report a record of that firearm transaction to DOJ.

SB 965: Data on Firearm Dealer Inspections, Firearm and Ammunition Sales, and the Roster of Certified Handguns

The DOJ, through the Bureau of Firearms (BOF) is responsible for inspecting licensed California firearm dealers and ammunition vendors.⁸ These inspections help to verify that dealers are complying with California firearm laws and regulations related to firearm and ammunition transfer requirements, recordkeeping, and site security standards.

In 2024, California enacted Senate Bill 965 (SB 965, Min), which requires DOJ to report specified information related to the department’s activities to inspect firearm dealers and ammunition vendors in California. SB 965 requires the report to include information about department staffing for inspections; detailed information about each inspection conducted, including any violations identified and follow-up efforts to resolve those violations; and specified information about the number of firearm and ammunition background checks submitted by licensed firearm dealers and ammunition vendors.

Additionally, SB 965 requires DOJ to include specified information about the Roster of Certified Handguns (Handgun Roster) that is described in Penal Code section 32015 and maintained by the DOJ including the total number of handguns on the Handgun Roster, and the number of handguns added to, removed from, or denied approval to be listed on the Handgun Roster.⁹

6 See DOJ Office of Gun Violence Prevention, 2023 Data Report: The Impact of Gun Violence in California, p. 17-18 (Aug. 2023), <https://oag.ca.gov/system/files/media/OGVP-Data-Report-2022.pdf>.

7 Because these firearms are completed, assembled, or manufactured by unlicensed manufacturers, they are sometimes called “privately made firearms” or “PMFs”. Ghost guns are distinct from firearms produced by licensed commercial firearm manufacturers where an individual sought to deface or obliterate the serial number. They are also distinct from firearms produced by unlicensed individuals using serialized, regulated firearm frames and receivers. For more detailed information, see DOJ Office of Gun Violence Prevention, “California’s Fight Against the Ghost Gun Crisis: Progress and New Challenges” (Oct. 2024), <https://oag.ca.gov/system/files/media/ogvp-report-ghost-guns.pdf>.

8 All firearm dealers are also considered ammo vendors; Cal Pen Code § 26720, 30345.

9 The Handgun Roster is publicly available, and searchable, on the DOJ’s website at <https://oag.ca.gov/firearms/certified-handguns/search>.

SB 965 requires this year's report to include inspection and Handgun Roster data from January 1, 2020, to December 31, 2024.

This report will shed light on inspection data and trends, including the rate at which BOF obtains corrections and the link between firearm dealers providing corrections and complying with state laws and regulations. Additionally, the report will provide a more detailed picture of crime gun recoveries, dealer practices, and reflect a link between firearm dealers and inspection trends as it relates to crime guns which are recovered by law enforcement.

The data analysis mandated by SB 965 will highlight the number of violations per dealer/vendor inspection, the number of resolved violations per dealer/vendor inspection, and the approximate hours spent on these inspections. The related analyses will connect dealer inspections with crime gun data by documenting the number and percentage of crime guns sold by and later traced back to the inspected dealers in the one-year period prior to the inspection. Finally, the analysis will document the number of firearm dealer and ammunition vendor background checks submitted by the inspected dealers and vendors during the one-year period before the inspection as well as the outcome of these inspections.

TOP HIGHLIGHTS: CRIME GUNS

- 139,017 unique crime guns with identifiable serial numbers were recovered by law enforcement agencies in California and entered in AFS between January 1, 2022, and December 31, 2024. In 2024, 46,996 of these unique crime guns were entered in AFS (compared to 46,132 in 2023 and 45,889 in 2022).
- 32,063 crime guns were entered in AFS without any recorded serial number between 2022 and 2024, including 12,113 in 2022, 10,503 in 2023, and 9,249 entered in 2024.¹⁰
- Of the 46,996 serialized crime guns reported in 2024, 16,321 (34.7%) could be associated with a sale record in AFS. Of that number, 12,405 (26.4%) crime guns were traceable to transactions recorded on or after January 1, 2010 and were associated with 1,181 distinct California firearm dealers. The remaining 3,916 crime guns were associated with pre-2010 sales, for which dealer-specific information does not exist.
- Similarly, for serialized crime guns reported between 2022 and 2024, 48,720 (35.0%) were traceable to a transaction record in AFS. Of that number, 36,372 (26.2%) were traceable to transactions since January 1, 2010, and were associated with 1,641 California firearms dealers.
- 81 dealers were associated with roughly half of all traceable crime guns (6,228 firearms) in 2024. 376 dealers were associated with only one crime gun in 2024. The highest number of crime guns was associated with one dealer, Turner's Outdoorsman San Bernardino, had 280 crime guns reported in 2024, and 791 crime guns reported between 2022 and 2024.
- Among dealers associated with at least one crime gun, licensed dealers sold or transferred an average of 10.5 firearms that were later identified as a crime gun in 2024, and 22.3 firearms that were later identified as a crime gun between 2022 and 2024.
- The manufacturers associated with the most crime gun records are Glock; Smith & Wesson; Sturm, Ruger, & Co.; Taurus Forjas; and Springfield.
- In 2024, there was a 11.9% drop in the number of "ghost guns" (crime guns without serial numbers) reported statewide, indicating a 29.4% decline from the 2021 peak. Since 2021, California has taken strong action to address the ghost gun crisis through affirmative litigation in the courtroom, law enforcement actions, local gun safety ordinances, and in 2022 and 2023, by enacting the nation's most comprehensive ghost gun reform legislation. For more detailed data and discussion about California's efforts to address the proliferation of ghost guns in crime, see the California DOJ's Office of Gun Violence Prevention October 2024 report titled, "California's Fight Against the Ghost Gun Crisis: Progress and New Challenges."¹¹

10 Unserialized guns may include privately made firearms ("ghost guns"), antique firearms, or commercially manufactured firearms that have had their serial numbers removed.

TOP HIGHLIGHTS: FIREARM DEALER INSPECTIONS

From January 1, 2020, through December 31, 2024:

- DOJ inspected 736 firearm dealers across 802¹² separate inspections.
- Throughout these inspections, field representatives recorded 41,602 violations and at least 35,382 (85%) of them have been resolved.¹³
- DOJ field representatives spent at least 16,998 hours inspecting firearm dealers.
- DOJ field representatives spent a total of 623 hours on ammunition vendor inspections.
- The average number of violations per firearm dealer inspection was 51.87 and the median number of violations was 18. The highest number of violations recorded for a single dealer inspection was 1,056. Zero violations were recorded for 41 dealer inspections.

During the one-year period prior to the firearm dealer inspection date:

- Firearm dealers submitted 477,120 firearm background checks; of these background checks: 447,282 (93.7%) were approved; 19,272 (4%) were cancelled; 3,847 (0.8%) were denied; 3,214 (0.7%) were rejected; and 3,506 (0.7%) were undetermined.¹⁴ During this time, these dealers submitted an average of 595 background checks.
- Inspected firearm dealers sold 452,353 firearms. The average number of firearms sold by each inspected dealer was 805 (with a median of 90).
- The total number of crime guns sold by and later traced back to these dealers was 612.
- Each inspected dealer sold an average of less than one firearm (0.76) that was later recovered as a crime gun (with a median of zero). Of the 802 dealer inspections, 612 had zero associated crime guns.
- From January 1, 2020, through December 31, 2024, DOJ inspected 68¹⁵ ammunition vendors and recorded a total of 975 violations. 967 (99%) of those violations have been resolved.

12 180 of these inspections were conducted in 2020, 148 were in 2021, 129 were in 2022, 150 were in 2023 and 195 were in 2024.

13 Violations may be considered unresolved for reasons such as: the firearm dealer closed their business prior to correcting some or all violations; the firearm dealer has yet to provide corrections and is still attempting to comply; or the firearm dealer has not complied, and/or is no longer responsive.

14 Approved: The Department determined the DROS applicant was eligible to purchase or possess firearms.
Denied: The Department determined the DROS applicant was not eligible to purchase or possess firearms due to a felony conviction, domestic violence conviction, a qualifying misdemeanor conviction, mental health-based event, various types of civil or criminal restraining orders, or other state or federal prohibiting categories.
Undetermined: The Department was unable to ascertain the DROS applicant's eligibility to purchase or possess a firearm within 30 days of the DROS submission. Consequently, the DROS will result in an "undetermined" determination pursuant to Penal Code section 28220, subdivision (g)(4). In such a case, the dealer has the discretion to either refuse or permit the sale or transfer of the firearm.
Cancelled: The DROS transaction was cancelled by the dealer.
Rejected: Two of the most common rejection reasons are: the applicant attempted to purchase a firearm with an invalid, suspended, revoked, or expired California driver's license or California identification card (California Penal Code sections 16400 and 26815) and the applicant attempted to purchase or receive a firearm that matched an entry in the DOJ Automated Firearms System (AFS) indicating the firearm is stolen (California Penal Code section 28220(d)). Please note: this list is not inclusive of all rejection reasons.

15 13 of these inspections were conducted in 2021, seven were conducted in 2022, and 48 were conducted in 2024.

- During the one-year prior to the ammunition vendor inspection, the inspected ammunition vendors submitted a total of 66,807 background checks: 58,025 (87%) of the submitted background checks were “used”, 6,938 (10%) were “denied”, and 1,844 (3%) were “expired”.¹⁶

TERMINOLOGY

For the purpose of this report, DOJ defines “crime gun,” “source,” and “origin” as follows:

Crime Gun

California Penal Code section 11108.2 defines crime guns as “recovered firearms that are illegally possessed, have been used in a crime, or are suspected of having been used in a crime.” For this report, “crime guns” are identified in AFS as records that have been logged as a crime gun, or entered into evidence records. Evidence records are included because law enforcement agencies may enter firearms as evidence in connection to their use or suspected use in a crime, but not log it as a crime gun. As such, using evidence records provides a more complete accounting for crime guns in AFS.

Source and Origin

This report focuses on the “source” events of a firearm’s “origin.” California Penal Code section 11108.2 does not define “source” or “origin.” For the purposes of this report, the “source” of firearms is defined as the licensed dealer or place someone came into possession of a particular firearm. “Sources” include any licensed firearm dealer in California. Conversely, the “origin” of a firearm is defined, for this report, as the type of transaction or event by which an individual obtained a firearm. Origins included in this report are dealer sales, private-party transfers, pawn redemptions, and the return of firearms to an owner that were temporarily stored at a dealer. Each of these events involve an unlicensed individual acquiring a firearm in a transaction that is facilitated by a licensed firearm dealer.

DATA CONSIDERATIONS

Crime Guns

Interpreting the crime gun analysis of this report requires several considerations. First, it can be challenging to confirm a match between firearm records reported to DOJ at the time the firearm was legally acquired and by law enforcement at the time the firearm was later recovered from a crime. Firearms may be difficult to track between crime events and source events, in part, because the data-entry system used to report these records allows law enforcement agencies to enter records using an unrestricted (i.e., “free-form”) entry type, and does not prevent users from leaving data fields blank or from inadvertently entering incorrect data. Firearm dealers may also report information — including the serial number — inaccurately or incorrectly. Purchasers can also alter the characteristics of a firearm following the purchase, such as changing the caliber or removing the serial number, which can make the firearm difficult to trace if the serial number and make are not consistent. For example, if a gun owner illegally removes a serial number or switches out parts of a firearm, it can become very challenging to trace that firearm to other records in AFS.¹⁷

Second, as noted above, a majority of crime guns reported to DOJ do not have any associated record of sale through a California firearm dealer, including firearms that were acquired through illegal or black market sales, firearms that were illegally trafficked into California from other states, unserialized ghost guns, or sales or transfers for which dealers, residents, and other entities were not required to report any record under California law (such as sales and transfers of most long guns prior to 2014).

Third, data in AFS changes on a continuous basis and records dating back several years can be updated. Consequently, the total numbers of firearms may then shift depending on when the data was extracted from AFS and caution should be used when comparing numbers from one annual report to the next. The data used in this report was extracted on March 20, 2025. Data pertaining to crime gun and sales counts for firearm dealers was extracted on April 22, 2025.

Firearm Dealer Inspections

Interpreting dealer inspection data requires several considerations. First, although the on-site portion of inspections during this time period are completed, field representatives might still be working on post-inspection related items, such as the collection and review of violation corrections, inspection report writing, and following-up with firearm dealers or ammunition vendors. Once the post-inspection tasks are fully concluded, the number of resolved violations and the hours spent on each inspection may change, and therefore, the related numbers should be interpreted accordingly.

Second, DOJ was not able to identify the number of firearms that the dealer reported or discovered lost or stolen during the one-year period prior to the inspection as that information has not been specifically collected during the inspection process¹⁸. Of note, the aforementioned information was also not available through the AFS since the lost or stolen firearm records did not have any associated dealer information. Moving forward, DOJ will capture information during its inspection process related to firearms that the dealer reported or discovered lost or stolen as documented on their records. Similarly, DOJ could not identify the amount of ammunition that the vendor reported or discovered

17 Intentionally altering a firearm’s serial number, or other identifying markings is classified as a felony under California Penal Code 23900.

18 Pursuant to California Penal Code 11108.3\(g\)\(2\)\(J\), the DOJ is required to report the number of firearms the dealer reported or discovered lost or stolen during the one-year period prior to the inspection, however, this information is not currently captured during inspections.

lost or stolen during the one-year period prior to the inspection¹⁹. It should be noted that some of the inspection data does identify violations for missing/unaccounted firearms, as firearms dealers are required to report this information to local law enforcement if firearms are lost or stolen²⁰. However, if a firearm dealer complied with all requirements of the law including reporting the theft or loss to local law enforcement, they were consequently not issued a violation and thus, that information was not documented on the inspection report.

19 Pursuant to California Penal Code section 11108.3\(g\)\(3\)\(I\), the DOJ is required to report the number of ammunition the vendor reported or discovered lost or stolen during the one-year period prior to the inspection, however, this information is not currently captured during inspections.

20 Pursuant to California Penal Code section 26885(b), within 48 hours of discovery, a licensee shall report the loss or theft of any firearm or ammunition to the appropriate law enforcement agency in the city, county, or city and county where the licensee's business premises are located.

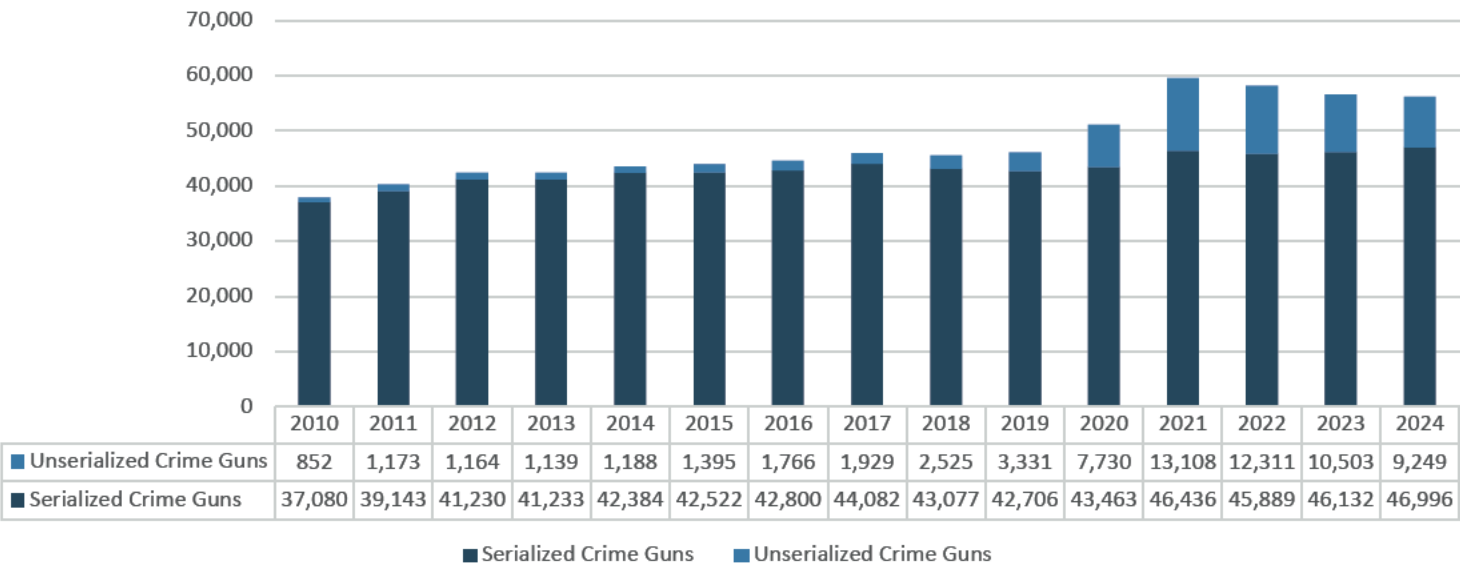

PART I: MANDATED STATISTICS AND ANALYSIS: CRIME GUNS

Total Number of Crime Guns in AFS

As of January 1, 2025, of the 1,223,013 crime guns or evidence records in AFS, approximately 645,173 were unique serialized crime guns reported from 2010-2024. This includes 139,017 reported from 2022 through 2024 and 46,996 reported in 2024 alone, which are the primary focus of this report. This report describes approximate numbers of firearms due to potential overlap among unserialized firearms that cannot be differentiated within AFS. DOJ has excluded these unserialized firearms from the results of Figure 1 (“Number of Distinct Serialized Crime Guns, by Year”) and reported them separately below.

Furthermore, a single crime gun or serial number may be associated with multiple crimes. The number of crime guns entered into AFS each year has been on a small upward trend since 2010. However, changes from year-to-year are generally small. The difference between the highest (2024) and lowest (2010) number of serialized crime guns in AFS per year was 9,916 crime guns. See Figure 1 for accounts of all crime guns by year.

Total Number of Crime Guns, by Dealer

To examine the “source and origin of crime guns,” DOJ connected crime guns to the most recent source event preceding the crime gun entry as of December 31, 2024; this data is presented below both for the 2024 calendar year as well as from 2022- 2024.

For crime guns reported in 2024, 16,321 (34.7%) were traceable to a prior transaction recorded in AFS, and 12,405 (26.4%) were traceable to a post-2010 transaction with specific dealer information. These 12,405 crime guns were associated with 1,181 dealers across California. For a full list of dealers with the associated number of firearm transactions and crime guns, see Appendix A and B. The number of crime guns acquired, sold, or transferred by each dealer ranged from one to 280 in 2024. The 81 dealers associated with the greatest number of crime guns accounted for 6,228 (50%) of the 12,449 traceable crime guns reported in 2024 (see Appendix A). In comparison, 376 dealers were associated with only one crime gun reported in 2024.

Of the 139,017 unique serialized crime guns reported between 2022 and 2024 in AFS, 48,720 (35.0%) could be traced to a preceding source event such as a dealer sale, a Private Party Transaction, a pawn redemption, or the return of firearms to an owner that were temporarily stored at a dealer, including sales before 2010 when DOJ did not retain specific dealer information. 36,372 (26.2%) of these were traceable to 1,641 firearm dealers in California.

The number of crime guns acquired, sold, or transferred by each dealer were up to 791 for crime guns reported between 2022 and 2024 per dealer. Each dealer among these sold an average of 10.5 firearms that were later recovered as a crime gun in 2024.²¹ This indicates that most dealers were associated with a relatively low number of crime guns and a few dealers were associated with a large number of crime guns.

DOJ's analysis found that between 2022 and 2024, 1,644 dealers were associated with firearms recovered as crime guns. While many of these crime guns were sold or transferred by the dealer before 2022, DOJ's analysis found that 710 dealers sold or transferred at least one firearm between 2022 and 2024 that was recovered as a crime gun within that same three-year period. Among these 710 dealers, on average 0.58% of the dealers' firearm transactions between 2022 and 2024 were associated with a crime gun recovered during the same three-year period.²²

Interpreting the number of crime guns associated with any specific dealer should be done with caution.

As noted above, only 26.2% of the crime guns in AFS could be traced to a preceding source event with specific dealer information. In addition, as reflected in Appendices A and B, the number of crime guns associated with any dealer must be compared to the total number of firearms sold or transferred per dealer. A dealer could have a high number of crime guns associated with it because it sold or transferred more firearms, for example, not necessarily because a higher percentage of the firearms it sold or transferred are firearms associated with crimes.

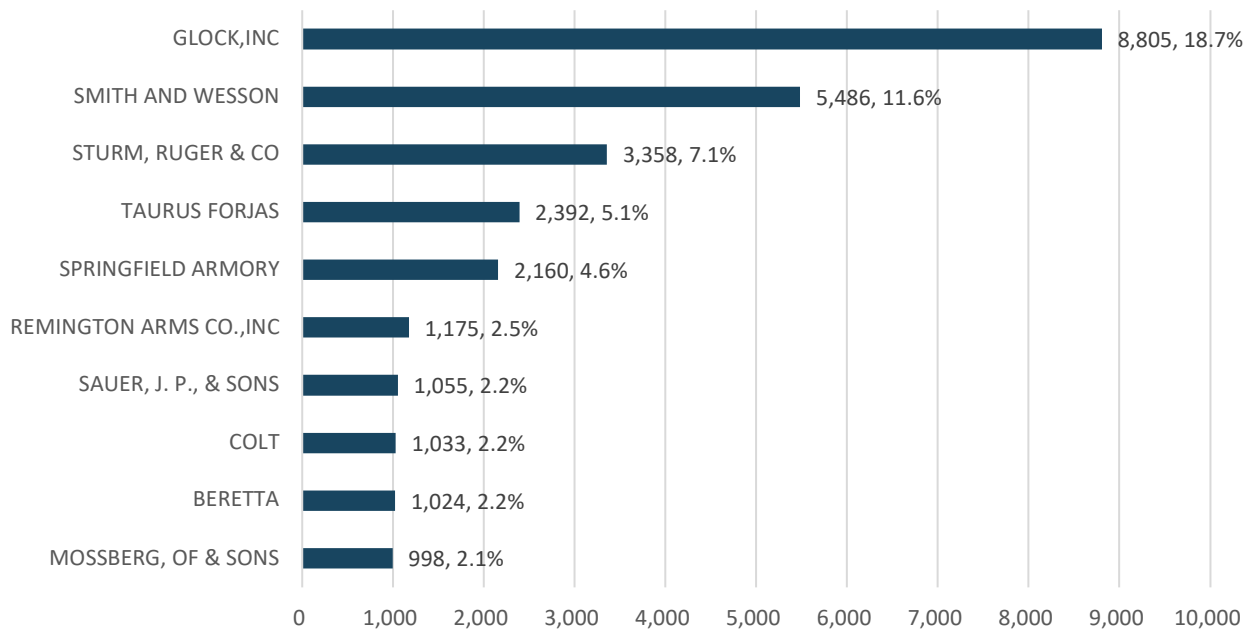

Total Number of Crime Guns, by Manufacturer

DOJ identified 1,036 manufacturers of firearms for crime guns recovered in 2024 and 1,519 manufacturers for crime guns recovered in the past three years in the AFS, and analyzed which manufacturers produced the most firearms recovered as crime guns. The manufacturers associated with the most crime gun records in 2024 are listed in Figure 2. For the period between 2022 and 2024 the numbers are as follows: Glock (24,960 crime guns, 18.1% of all identified crime guns), Smith & Wesson (16,597 crime guns, 12.0%), Sturm, Ruger, & Co. (10,010 crime guns, 7.3%), Taurus Forjas (7,196 crime guns, 5.2%), and Springfield (6,042 crime guns, 4.4%). See Appendix C for a complete list of all 1,519 manufacturers.

21 With a median of three firearms and a standard deviation of 22.3 crime guns.

22 With a standard deviation of 0.75%. The median point was 0.38%, with a maximum of 11.1%. However, the only dealer with 11.1% of their transactions associated with subsequent crime guns had a total of nine transactions on record during this three-year period, two of which were associated with a crime gun.

Total Number of Crime Guns, by County

County information is provided for firearms logged as crime guns but may not be provided by law enforcement agencies for guns entered as evidence. County information for firearms entered as evidence is determined based on the agency that entered the record into AFS for the purposes of this report. The data presented here reflects the county where the firearm was recovered as a crime gun, and not the location of a crime gun sale.

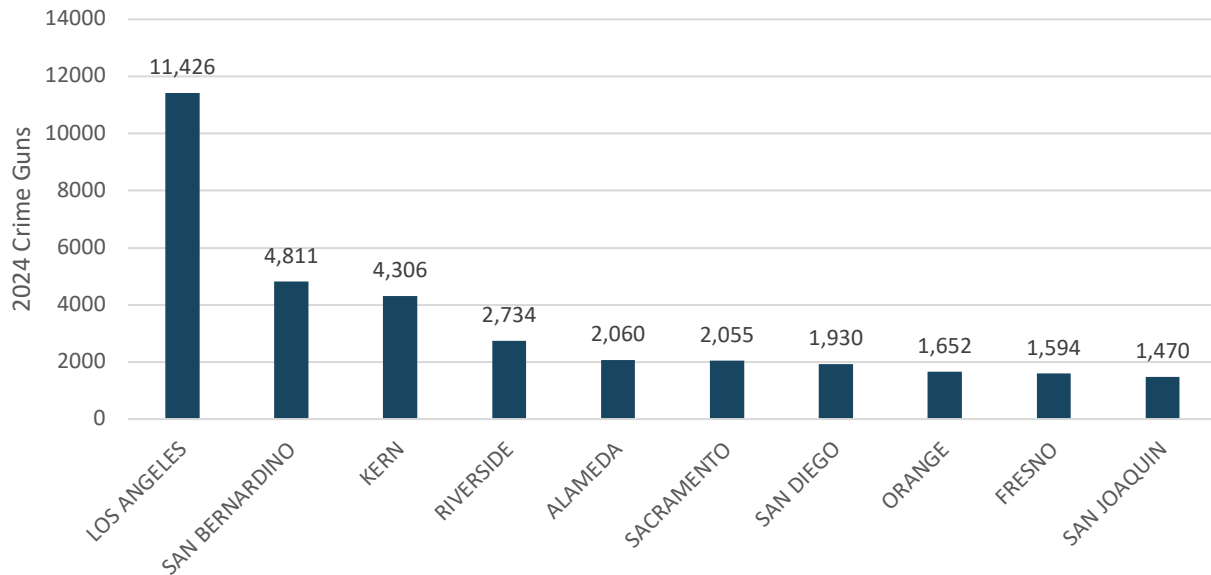

Within the crime gun data, DOJ identified county information for 46,341 serialized crime guns recovered in 2024, and 136,678 crime guns recovered in the past three years. To see a full list of counties and the number of crime guns by county, see Appendix E.

Law enforcement agencies in counties with larger populations tended to report a larger number of crime guns overall. The county that reported the most crime guns recovered in 2024 was Los Angeles County, with 11,426 (24.7% of all recovered crime guns) crime guns. Los Angeles County is also by far the most populous county in the state. The next four counties with the highest number of crime guns in 2024 are San Bernardino (4,811, 10.4%), Kern (4,306, 9.3%), Riverside (2,734, 5.9%), and Alameda (2,060, 4.4%). These five counties accounted for 54.66% of all California crime guns in 2024. These numbers slightly change when calculated for all crime guns recovered during the past three years. Los Angeles County is again at the top of the list with 35,860 (26.2%) crime guns followed by San Bernardino (14,087, 10.3%), Riverside (8,897, 6.5%), Kern (7,710, 5.6%) and Sacramento (6,820, 5.0%).

The counties with the fewest number of crime guns in 2024 are Alpine (0), Sierra (4), Mono (14), Mariposa (16), and Modoc (27). Ten crime guns did not have county information provided, and the county was not able to be identified for these using the reporting agency information.

When accounting for population size, the counties with the highest number of reported crime guns per capita in 2024 were Kern County (47.3 crime guns per 10,000 residents), Siskiyou County (34.2 crime guns per 10,000 residents) and Modoc County (31.2 crime guns per 10,000 residents). County population was not a reliable predictor of the per capita crime guns recovered in 2024.

Total Number of Crime Guns, by City

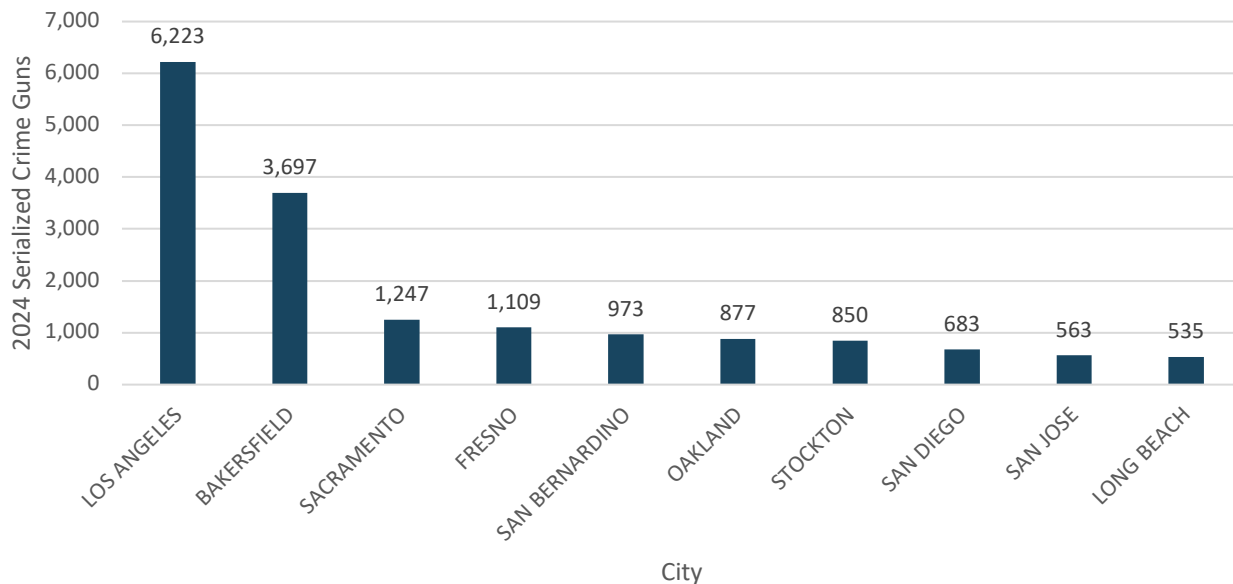

In 2024, DOJ identified 42,741 crime guns that could be associated with 848 cities in California.²³ In total, there are 1,618 cities or places in California represented in census data, including municipalities or designated places such as towns that are not officially incorporated cities. That means 52.4% of cities or places in California had at least one crime gun recovered in 2024. On average, each city that reported crime guns in California was associated with 55 crime guns, with a median of 10 crime guns.²⁴ As with counties, the high deviation and disparity between average and median indicates that a relatively small number of cities reported the majority of crime guns recovered statewide. See Appendix F for more information. The city with the most crime guns recovered was Los Angeles, with 6,223 associated crime guns. The next four cities with the greatest number of associated crime gun records were Bakersfield (3,697), Sacramento (1,247), Fresno (1,109), and San Bernardino (973). These five cities account for 29% of all crime guns and 16% of California's total population. The 428 cities with the fewest number of crime gun records were associated with between one and 10 crime guns in 2024.

When accounting for population size, the cities with the highest rate of crime guns recovered in 2024 per 10,000 residents were Winterhaven (four crime guns, 3,636 per 10,000 residents), Cold Springs (seven crime guns, 3,182 crime guns per 10,000 residents), and Long Barn (five crime guns, 2,500 crime guns per 10,000 residents). While cities with significantly higher crime guns per capita were most likely to be small towns with populations under 1,000 residents, a majority of the least populated cities and towns had crime gun rates in 2024 comparable to larger cities.

23 Evidence guns reported to DOJ may be missing city information. Often, these may be reported by county wide agencies, therefore, specific city information will be missing for a portion of crime gun records in AFS.

24 The standard deviation between cities is 294 crime guns.

For the period between 2022 and 2024, DOJ identified 124,904 crime guns that could be associated with 1,030 cities in California. On average, these cities were associated with 121 crime guns, with a median of 21 crime guns and a standard deviation between cities of 683 crime guns. The city with the most total crime guns recovered was Los Angeles, with 19,319 associated crime guns. The next four cities with the greatest number of associated crime gun records were Bakersfield (5,855), Sacramento (4,427), San Bernardino (3,073), and Fresno (2,924). These five cities account for 26% of all crime guns and 16% of California’s total population. The 402 cities with the fewest number of crime gun records were associated with between one and ten crime guns during 2022-2024. The remaining cities reported no crime gun records during this three-year period.

Total Number of Crime Guns, Without Serial Numbers

Many crime guns do not possess a serial number. For the purposes of this report, firearms without serial numbers are any firearm records that have “obliterated”, “2antique”, “antique2,” or “FMBUS”²⁵ entered into their associated serial number field in AFS.²⁶ In 2024, DOJ identified 9,249 crime gun records without a serial number. For the period between 2022 and 2024, the number of unserialized crime guns was 32,063.

A firearm may not have a serial number for several reasons, including certain older antique firearms, privately made firearms assembled without a lawful serial number (also commonly known as a “ghost gun”),²⁷ or commercially manufactured firearms where the serial number has been illegally defaced or removed (often reported as “obliterated” serial numbers). Individual firearms without serial numbers cannot be traced in AFS because two different firearms of the same make, caliber, and type cannot be differentiated using the available data.

25 Pursuant to California Code of Regulations (CCR) section 5471(s), “FMBUS; refers to a firearm manufactured by an unlicensed subject.

26 While agencies are provided guidance on how to enter unserialized guns into AFS, records may include entries in the serial number field such as “none”, “unknown” or “ghostgun”. Such entries are included in the unserialized crime gun totals in this report.

27 Since July 1, 2018, California law has required individuals manufacturing or assembling firearms without a firearm manufacturer license to apply to DOJ for a unique serial number and engrave that serial number on the firearm within 10 days of its manufacture. California also enacted comprehensive ghost gun legislation in 2022 and 2023, which generally prohibits the possession of unserialized firearms and unserialized firearm precursor parts, as well as the sale of firearm precursor parts in general. See Cal. Penal Code sections 23920, 29180, and 30400.

Additionally, firearms without serial numbers cannot be traced to a specific source. Therefore, unserialized firearms in these analyses do not connect to preceding source events.

Although the number of unserialized crime guns recovered by law enforcement has risen over the last decade, the past three years show a declining trend. As shown in Figure 5, the number of unserialized crime guns recovered by law enforcement dropped from 13,108 in 2021, to 12,311 in 2022, to 10,503 in 2023, and to 9,249 in 2024. Those numbers had risen significantly over the past decade and especially since 2019. Unserialized crime guns more than doubled between 2019 and 2020 and almost doubled again between 2020 and 2021 before the start of the declining trend in 2022. In 2024, the number of unserialized guns decreased by 11.9% compared to 2023.²⁸

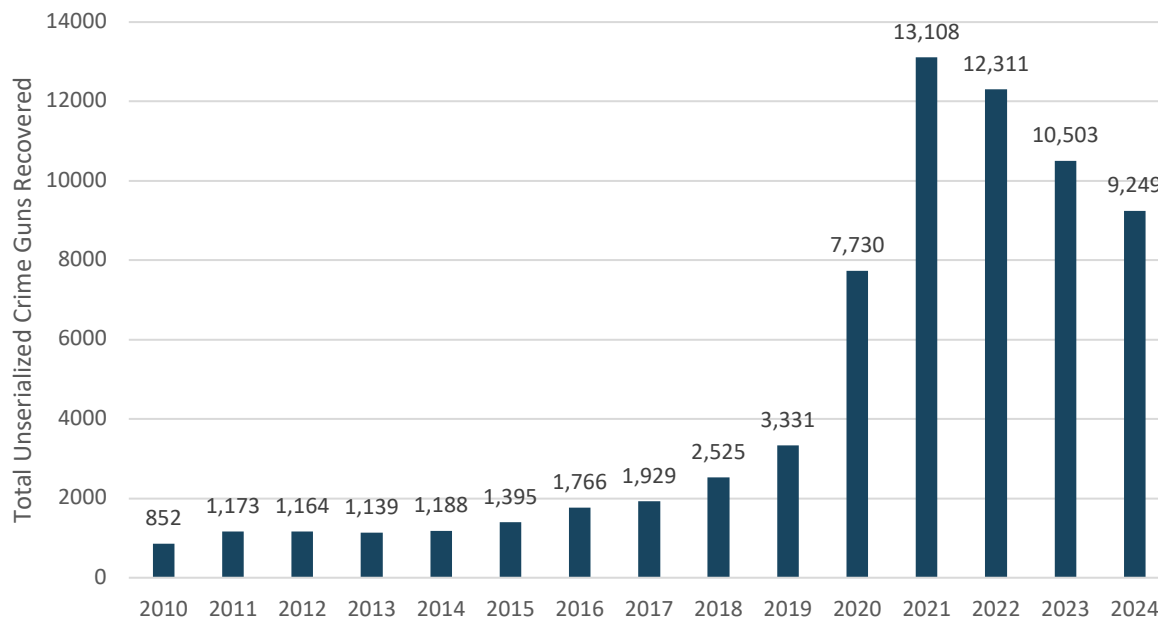

Figure 6 provides an additional breakdown of crime guns reported by the type of unserialized gun identified on the record. This shows that the increase in crime guns in recent years is primarily due to FMBUS firearms, or “ghost guns”, while antique firearms, and firearms with obliterated serial numbers have increased only slightly during the same time period. Other unserialized crime guns include those reported as unserialized, but the associated records did not provide sufficient information to identify if the gun was a ghost gun, such as an antique firearm, which may include firearms manufactured without serial numbers prior to the Gun Control Act of 1968, or had the serial number physically removed. Figure 7 additionally shows that while the number of unserialized long guns (e.g., rifles and shotguns) increased during this time, the overall increase since 2019 has been driven by large increases in reporting of unserialized handguns that were recovered by law enforcement agencies.

²⁸ The 2022 Crime Gun Tracing Report provided the total number of individual records for unserialized guns logged into AFS. The reporting method has been updated to provide the number of distinct unserialized crime guns by removing duplicate records from AFS data. This is because agencies may often submit a “crime gun” record into AFS, and also report the gun logged as “evidence” in a separate record, providing a double count of some unserialized crime gun records.

Total Number of Crime Guns without Serial Numbers, by Manufacturer

DOJ identified 274 manufacturers associated with crime guns reported without a serial number in 2024. The most common firearm make entries provided by law enforcement agencies for unserialized crime guns were listed as “Privately Made Firearm” (6,950, 75.1% of all unserialized crime guns) and “United States” (479, 5.2%).

“Privately Made Firearm” and “United States” indicate the true manufacturer was either an unlicensed individual or unknown, respectively.²⁹ Additionally, the main components of unserialized ghost guns are often manufactured by companies, such as Polymer80, that manufacture ghost gun frames and receivers, but which would typically not be reported as the manufacturer of the completed crime gun recovered by a law enforcement agency.

The top five manufacturing companies provided by agencies were Glock (143, 1.6%), Smith & Wesson (139, 1.5%), Sturm, Ruger & Co (98, 1.1%), Polymer80, Inc (82, 0.9%), and Savage Arms Corp (80, 0.9%).

For crime guns reported over the past three years, DOJ identified 523 manufacturers associated with crime guns reported without a serial number. The five most common firearm make entries provided by law enforcement agencies for this period were “Privately Made Firearm” (18,964, 59.1%), “United States” (6,872, 21.4%), Glock (523, 1.6%), Smith & Wesson (476, 1.5%), and Polymer80, Inc (398, 1.2%). See Appendix D for a full list of all manufacturers.

Total Number of Crime Guns without Serial Numbers, by County

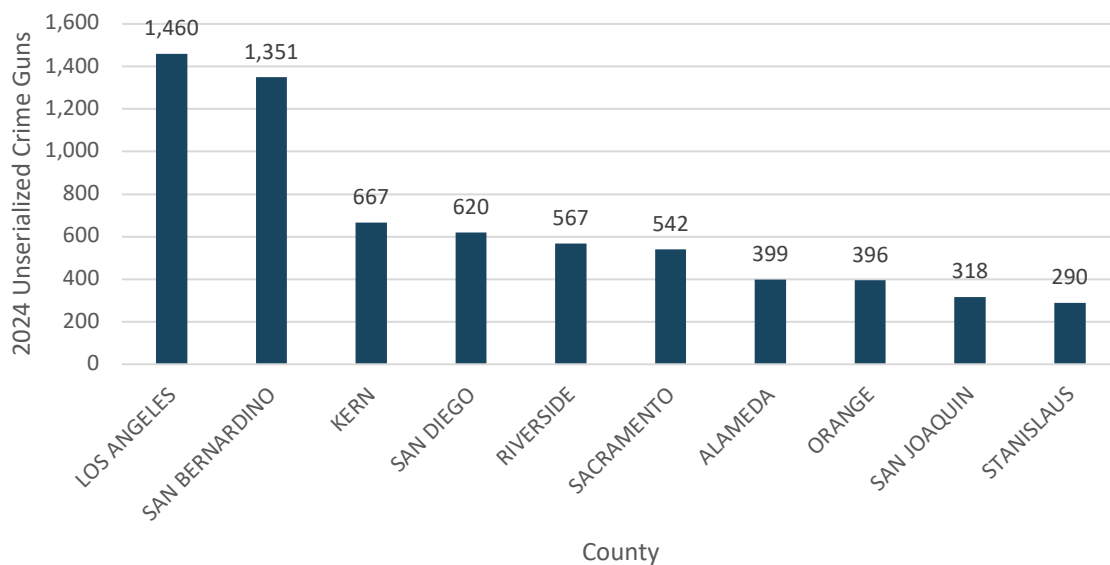

DOJ identified 9,252 crime gun records without serial numbers across 54 counties in 2024. Alpine, Mariposa, Modoc, and Sierra Counties had no associated crime gun records reported without serial numbers. The counties with the highest number of crime gun records without a serial number were Los Angeles (1,460, 15.8% of all unserialized crime guns), San Bernardino (1,351, 14.6%), Kern (667, 7.2%), San Diego (620, 6.7%), and Riverside (567, 6.1%). These five counties accounted for 50% of all crime guns without a serial number, while the top ten counties accounted for 71% of crime guns without a serial number. Los Angeles County, the most populous in the state, reported approximately one in six (15.8%) crime guns without a serial number in 2024.

For the period between 2022 and 2024, DOJ identified 32,067 crime gun records without serial numbers across 55 counties. Alpine, Modoc, and Sierra Counties had no associated crime gun records without serial numbers. For this time period, the counties with the highest number of crime gun records without a serial number were again Los Angeles (6,045, 18.9% of all unserialized crime guns), San Bernardino (4,845, 15.1%), San Diego (2,421, 7.6%), Riverside (2,251, 7.0%), and Sacramento (1,874, 5.8%). These top five counties accounted for 54% of all crime guns without a serial number, while the top ten counties accounted for 73% of crime guns without a serial number. Los Angeles County reported 19% of crime guns without a serial number over this period.

29 The designator of “United States” does not mean the country of United States is the manufacturer, but instead the country of origin is used as default if a manufacturer is unknown.

Figure 8 demonstrates the number of unserialized crime guns for the top 10 counties in 2024. See Appendix G for information about the number of unserialized crime guns reported in all 55 counties.

Total Number of Crime Guns without Serial Numbers, by City

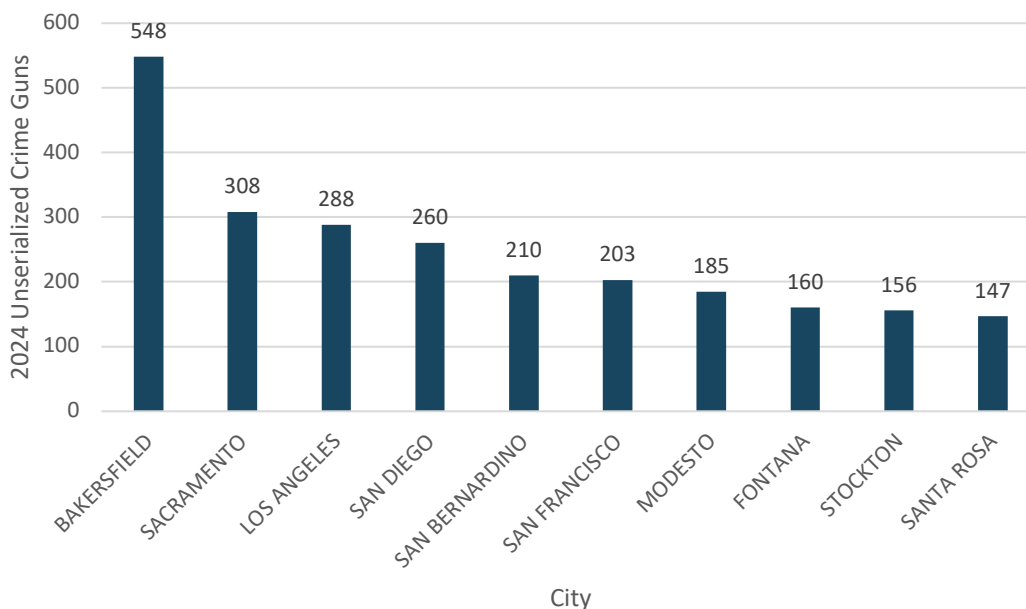

In 2024, DOJ identified 8,697 crime gun records without serial numbers across 567 cities. The cities with the highest number of crime gun records without a serial number were Bakersfield (548, 5.9% of unserialized crime guns statewide), Sacramento (308, 3.3%), Los Angeles (288, 3.1%), San Diego (260, 2.8%), and San Bernardino (210, 2.3%). These five cities account for 17% of all unserialized crime guns recovered in 2024.

For the period between 2022 and 2024, DOJ identified 29,686 crime gun records without serial numbers across 764 cities. For this time period, the city with the most unserialized crime guns recovered was Sacramento, with 1,233 associated crime guns (3.84% of all unserialized crime guns statewide). The next four cities with the largest number of unserialized crime gun records were Los Angeles (1,228, 3.83%), San Diego (1,041, 3.2%), Bakersfield (973, 3.0%), and San Bernardino (771, 2.4%). These five cities account for 16.3% of all unserialized crime guns recovered statewide in the past three years.

In 2024, the top 10 cities accounted for approximately a quarter of crime guns without serial numbers (26.6%). For the period between 2022 and 2024, the top 10 cities accounted for 25.2% of crime guns without serial numbers.

See Appendix H for a list of all cities. Note that 585 (6.3%) of these unserialized crime guns had no city data reported, and reporting agency information was insufficient to reliably identify the city. Therefore, city level trends should be interpreted with caution.

Time-to-Crime Analysis

A crucial metric in understanding firearm trafficking is time-to-crime (TTC), which reflects the length of time between a firearm’s last known purchase and the date the weapon was recovered as a crime gun by law enforcement agencies. ATF assesses a short TTC as a potential indicator of illegal firearms trafficking, and considers investigating crime guns with short TTCs as an important tool to disrupt the flow of illegal firearms through identified trafficking channels.³⁰ Empirical research also considers a TTC of less than three years as an indication of possible illegal transactions; a TTC of less than one year is considered an even stronger indicator.³¹

This year’s report calculated TTC for crime guns recovered in the past year (2024), past three years (between 2022 and 2024), and all years where data is available. For each of these time periods, there are two sets of TTC calculations provided below.

First, TTC was measured for all crime guns recovered over the relevant period of time that had a transaction date (such as a date of sale) reported in AFS, regardless of whether the crime gun could be traced to a specific licensed dealer. Prior to January 1, 2010, AFS maintained transaction records for handguns and some other circumstances but did not maintain information about the specific dealer that conducted the sale or transfer of the weapon.

Second, TTC was also measured for the subset of crime guns with a transaction date reported that could be traced to a specific licensed dealer based on transaction records maintained in AFS on or after January 1, 2010 with more specific dealer information.

Time-to-Crime Analysis for All Crime Guns with a Transaction Date

For all crime guns with a transaction date in AFS (including crime guns that could not be traced to a specific dealer), the mean TTC is 5,131 days (about 14.1 years), and the median is 2,745 days (roughly eight years). The lowest TTC identified for these crime guns was 0 days, meaning that some firearms were used in crimes the same day they were purchased, while others took as long as 33,688 days (approximately 92 years).

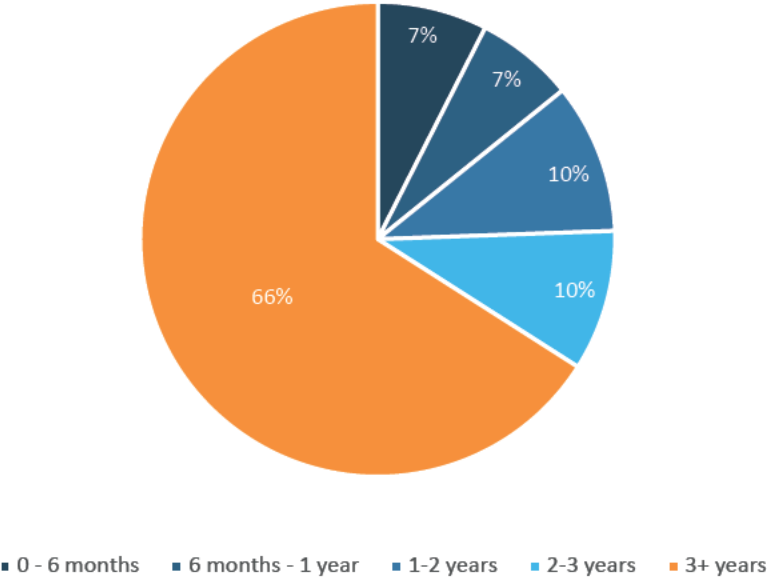

Table 1 demonstrates the TTC calculations for crime guns with a transaction date reported in AFS, regardless of whether they could be traced to a specific dealer. Of the crime guns recovered in 2024, roughly 66% had a TTC of more than three years. This percentage was 62.4% for crime guns recovered from 2022-2024, and 69.0% for all crime guns recovered with a transaction date. For all of the time periods, a short TTC interval of six months or less constituted less than 10% of crime guns recovered. Overall, 14.2% of the crime guns recovered in 2024, 15.4% of the crime guns recovered in the past three years, and 13.9% of all recovered crime guns had a TTC of less than one year.

Time-to-Crime Analysis for Crime Guns Traced to a Dealer

For crime guns with a transaction date that could be traced to a specific dealer, the mean TTC was 1,066 days (around 2.9 years), and the median was 777 days (close to 2 years). The lowest TTC identified for these firearms was 0 days and the highest was 5,091 days (nearly 14 years). As noted above, this analysis is restricted to firearms with transaction dates on or after January 1, 2010, when AFS first maintained transaction records with more specific information about the dealer that conducted the sale or transfer of the firearm.

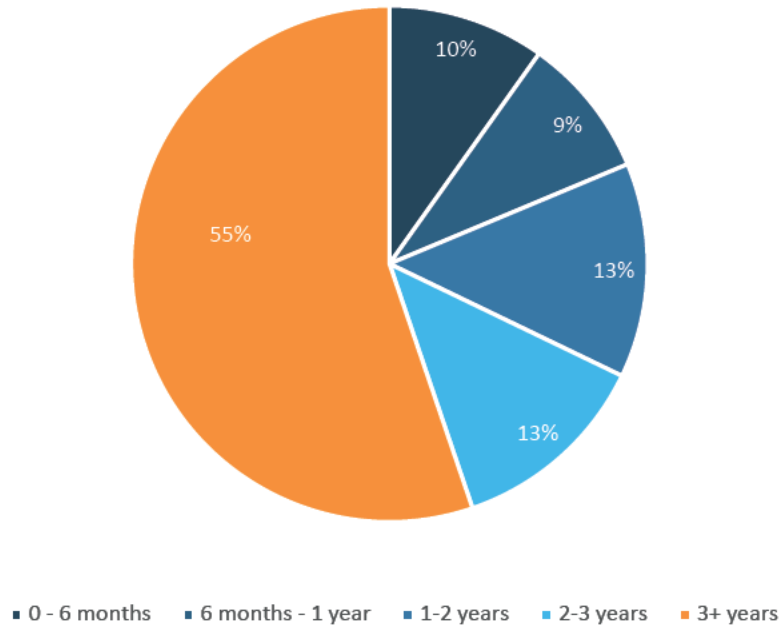

Table 2 shows TTC intervals for crime guns that could be traced to a specific dealer transaction on or after January 1, 2010. For crime guns recovered in 2024, 55% had a TTC of more than 3 years. This percentage was 49.7% for crime guns recovered between 2022 and 2024, and 37.9% for all crime guns recovered. Overall, 18.7% of the crime guns recovered in 2024, 20.6% of the crime guns recovered from 2022-2024, and 28.6% of all recovered crime guns had a TTC of less than one year.

AFS FIREARM TRACING METHODS

Analysis of Partially Matched Crime Gun Recovery and Sale Records

In the 2024 Crime Gun Report, which includes data for 2023,³² DOJ updated its tracing methodology to exclude the “firearm category” as a required field for matching crime gun recovery and sale records. In doing so, roughly 23,000 additional crime guns were traceable to a sale record in AFS between 2010 and 2023, although only 11.6% of those recoveries were traceable to a specific dealer. DOJ also analyzed the potential for data entry errors in the firearm caliber and manufacturer fields, focusing in particular on the manufacturer field due to the large number of codes available and presence of countries of origin and parent companies among those codes.

This year, DOJ conducted further analysis on crime gun records that matched a sale record based on serial number and two of the additional three required fields: firearm make, firearm caliber, and firearm type. This analysis sought to determine how many of these partially matched records fit these criteria, what proportion of them were likely true matches and, for those records that did represent true matches, what data entry issues were preventing their successful matching.

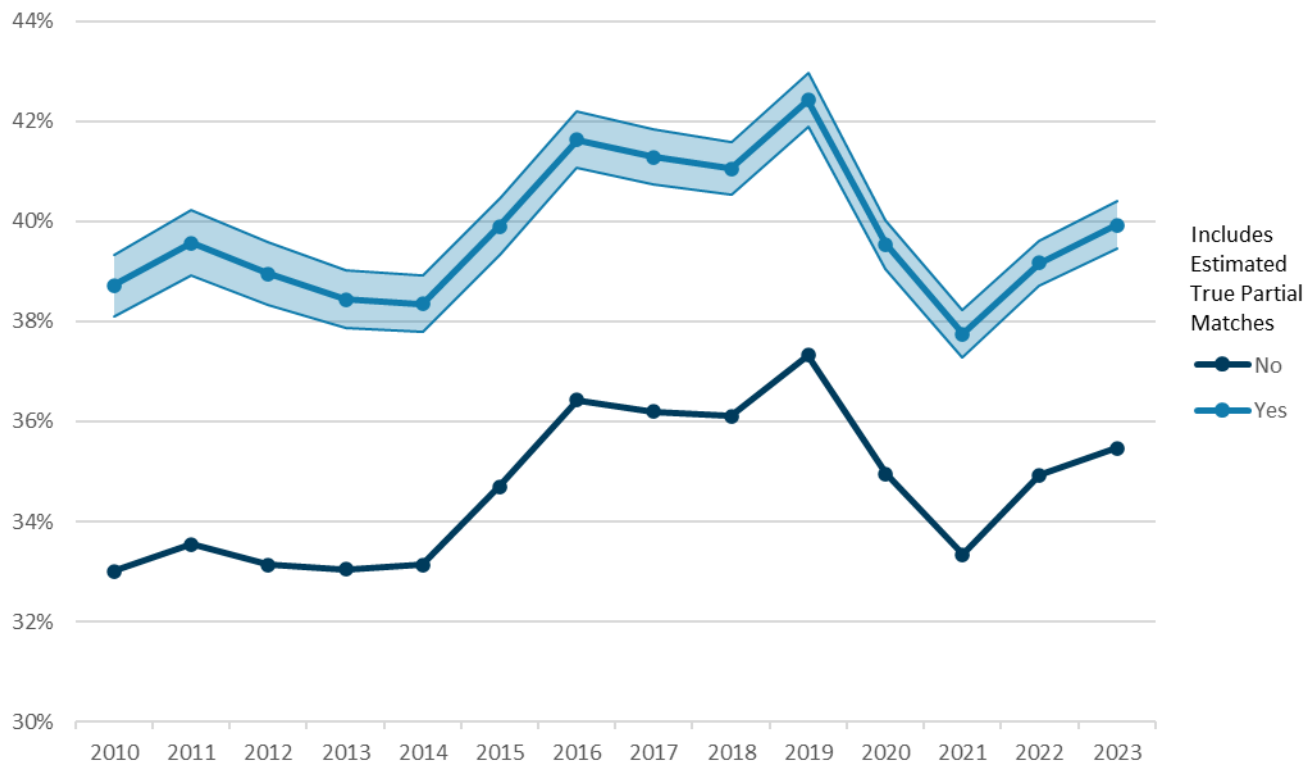

In order to carry out this analysis, DOJ identified roughly 64,000 crime gun recovery records that met the above criteria between 2010 and 2023 and drew a random sample of 385³³ of these records for manual auditing. This audit sought to identify ambiguous or confusing data entry decisions that could have led to the same firearm being represented multiple ways in AFS. This audit found that of the 385 sampled crime guns, 46.7% (180 crime guns) had at least one true positive match to an AFS sale record. Based on the size of the sample taken, this would indicate that between 41.7% and 51.7% of the roughly 64,000 partially matched crime guns have at least one true positive match to an AFS sale record.

Assuming 46.7% of each year’s count of partially matched records represents a unique addition to the counts of traceable firearms, between 2010 and 2023 this would, on average, add roughly 2,000 additional crime guns that DOJ is able to trace back to their most recent sale. This would increase the percentage of traceable firearms by an average of 5.1% each year. These annual differences are visualized in Figure 12 below, with a shaded region representing the 5% margin of error for the percentages that include the estimated additional successfully traced crime guns.

32 A copy of the 2024 Crime Gun Report, which includes data from 2023, can be found here: oag.ca.gov/system/files/media/ab1191-crime-gun-report-2024.pdf

33 This sample size was chosen in order to yield a 95% confidence interval with a 5% margin of error. This indicates that if we were to repeatedly draw samples of the same size and calculate a 95% confidence interval for each, about 95% of those intervals would contain the true proportion of true matches.

Many of the issues preventing the successful matching of true matches are related to the firearm manufacturer field.³⁴ The AFS database contains manufacturer codes under the “FIREARM_MAKE” field. This data contains two- or three-character codes that identify a unique manufacturer in AFS. Many firearm manufacturers, both currently and historically, work through subsidiaries, have partnerships and licensing agreements with other companies, and may rebrand over time. This can result in inconsistent use of firearm make codes between sale and recovery records as each iteration of these manufacturers exist as separate firearm make codes in AFS.

For example, Glock, Inc. is an Austrian firearm manufacturer but primarily operates in the United States through its American subsidiary (Glock USA Manufacturing). However, both the parent and subsidiary companies are available as options in the “FIREARM_MAKE” field, leading to cases where the parent company will be selected on the sale record and the subsidiary selected on the crime gun recovery record, or vice versa.

In addition, certain firearm manufacture codes available in AFS represent importers and distributors rather than an actual manufacturer. For certain recovery-sale partial matches it appears that in one instance the manufacturer of a weapon will be selected while in another the importer will be used. This issue may be especially confusing for individuals entering the data as federal law requires both the original manufacturer and the importer to be printed on the firearm.³⁵ As such, two individuals (one inputting the sale record and another inputting the crime gun recovery record) could understandably 34 In the 2023 Crime Gun Tracing Report, DOJ identified 39,039 crime guns with strong matches with at least one source record, a majority of which did not match on the firearm manufacturer data. DOJ evaluated all transaction data in AFS and found 488,480 firearms among all firearm transactions in AFS history that contained more than one potential transaction, but with conflicting firearm manufacturer data. Analyses of these cases suggested the records were likely not identifying the same gun, so DOJ did not match crime guns to source records that did not contain identical manufacturer information.

35 Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives. Firearms – Guides – Importation and Verification of Firearms, Ammunition – Firearms Verification Overview. Retrieved from: <https://www.atf.gov/firearms/firearms-guides-importation-verification-firearms-ammunition-firearms-verification-overview> make two different decisions on which name is correct, especially when they are both options in the AFS.

One other issue related to the firearm caliber field is the sale of firearm frames and receivers, and multi-barrel weapons. These are identified in AFS with the firearm caliber code of “0000” and “8888”, respectively. Neither will match with a corresponding sale/recovery record if that other record is also not identified as the same type of weapon. For example, a lower receiver for a rifle would be sold with a caliber of “0000,” but if it is recovered as a completed firearm, it would then be entered as the caliber it has at the time of recovery. Likewise, firearms sold with multiple, interchangeable barrels would be sold with a caliber of “8888,” but if it were recovered with only one of those barrels installed it would be entered as the caliber associated with that particular barrel installation.

The numbers of crime guns attributable to each of the preceding issues is visualized below in Figure 13, demonstrating that duplicate manufacturers account for the largest number of partially matched crime guns, followed by importers, and frames/receivers, and firearms with multiple barrels. However, some caution should be applied when examining these numbers as it is likely that not all duplicate manufacturers and importers have been identified in AFS. Moreover, mismatches due to frames/receivers and multiple barrels only cover one of several issues related to the firearm caliber field. The remaining caliber-related issues³⁶ are not possible to directly measure, and, as such, their scale is not known.

Trends in Crime Gun Characteristics, and Declining Partial Crime Gun Traces

As it relates to the future prevalence of partially matched crime gun and sale records, one other trend of note is the increasing complexity of serial numbers among firearms in AFS. Two potential proxies for 36 The additional caliber-related issues include firearms that are capable of firing more than one caliber, alternative names being used for the same caliber, and after-market conversions of firearms that allow them to fire different calibers.

serial number complexity are the presence of at least one letter, rather than solely digits, in the serial number, as well as the length of the serial number. Both of these characteristics allow for a greater number of possible unique serial numbers which, in turn, makes it less likely they are repeated by other manufacturers.

Looking at crime guns recovered between 2010 and 2023, we can see that the annual proportion of recovered crime guns with at least one letter in the serial number has steadily increased over time from roughly 58% in 2010 to roughly 79% in 2023 (Figure 14). Meanwhile, the average length of serial numbers has also gradually increased over this time period. In 2010 the average number of characters in serial numbers of recovered crime guns was 6.95, while this average increased to 7.61 in 2023 (Figure 15). Taken together, these two proxies suggest that serial numbers may be becoming more complex overall, which, in turn, reduces the possibility of erroneous repetition of such numbers occurring over time.

Considering sales of firearms, the number of new firearms sold at dealers and in private party transfers since 2010 has also begun to increasingly outpace such sales of used firearms (see Figure 16). Although sales of new firearms have been more common since 2010, the number of new firearms began to drastically outpace used ones in 2014 and has continued to do so with notable peaks of new gun sales in 2016 and 2020.

Meanwhile, the number of partially matched recovery and sale records, visualized below in Figure 17, has decreased over time. Considering each unique recovery-sale combination that matches on serial number and two of the other above-mentioned fields, their frequency has decreased from a peak of 10,659 in 2012 to 7,790 in 2023. Taken together, the preceding evidence suggests that an increasing number of newer firearms may be bringing with them more unique serial numbers, thus leading to fewer instances of distinct firearms sharing the same serial number. Additionally, crime guns recovered in any given year are likely to have been purchased within the prior several years (if purchased within California). Altogether, the extent of partial matches in AFS can be expected to naturally decline over time due to both trends in serial numbering by manufacturers, and a gradual decline in crime guns with less complex serial numbers over time.

Potential Data Entry Errors and Manufacturer Data Evaluation

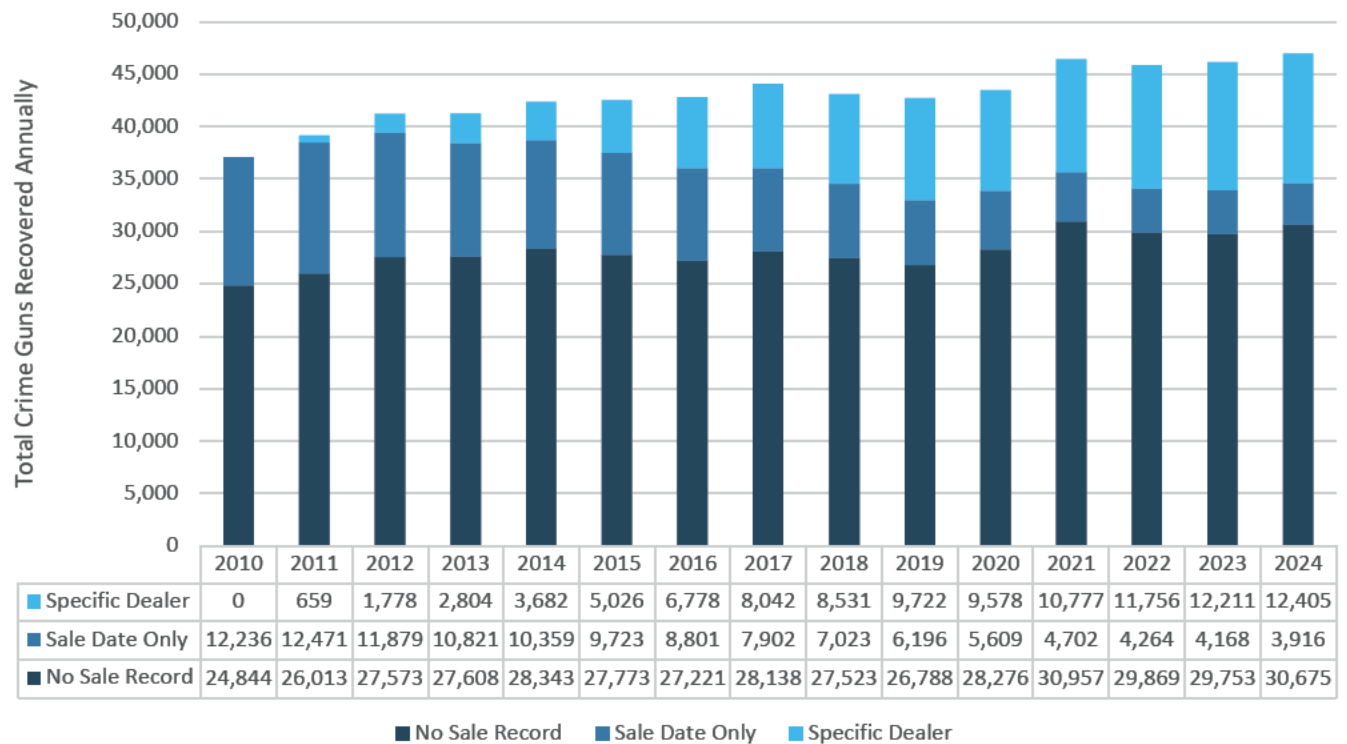

Another challenge for DOJ in matching crime guns to a source or origin in AFS relates to either errors or differences in data entry. For example, an agency may enter incorrect data for a firearm, either by selecting an incorrect option from a drop-down menu or typing errors. Additionally, there may be differences in how firearm data is entered. Firearm calibers, for example consist of a four-digit code, such as “0038”; if an agency mistakenly entered this as “0380”, the AFS records would fail to match. Firearm manufacturer data also has a greater potential for data entry differences, as firearm manufacturer data may be entered as the country of origin, the company labeled on the firearm, or a parent company of the direct manufacturer, among other alternative formats. Because DOJ must assume that the information entered into AFS is accurate, crime guns where either the crime gun or transaction record data is entered incorrectly will not be traceable to an origin or source.

Crime Gun Tracing Trends

The AFS Database did not retain dealer level information associated with transactions until 2010. Additionally, AFS generally did not retain long gun sale records until 2014. Therefore, crime guns reported during, or in the years prior to 2010 were not commonly associated with specific dealers. Of all the crime guns reported since 2010 through the end of 2024, nearly 224,000 are associated with a transaction record in AFS, however only 103,749 of these are associated with a post-2010 transaction that contains dealer information. Figure 18 shows the annual trends in the number of crime guns, indicating whether they are traceable to a sale record without dealer information (a pre-2010 transaction), a sale record with dealer information, or have no associated dealer transaction history in AFS. On average, approximately 35% of all crime guns reported each year since 2010 have been associated with a dealer sale transaction record in AFS, suggesting a stable and reliable trend. At the same time, the portion of these records that can be linked to specific dealers has dramatically increased since 2010 due to crime guns reported in recent years being more likely to be associated with post-2010 transactions.

DOJ further evaluated the crime gun history in AFS for crime guns reported in 2024 and found that 60% of crime guns were identified for the first time in AFS by their crime gun record. This means a majority of crime guns reported are not recorded in AFS prior to being recovered in a crime. This may suggest that a majority of crime guns are from sales outside of California, illegally trafficked or manufactured as unserialized ghost guns, or firearms that did not have to be reported at the time of their acquisition and were not later self-reported. Three percent of crime guns recovered in 2024 had prior AFS history but no recorded dealer sales. This may include self-reports of ownership, or records indicating the firearm was reported lost, stolen or found.

The 2024 data shows that 29.01% of crime guns recovered in California are traceable to a sale in California (34.7% of serialized crime guns). This closely aligns with data published by the Federal National Tracing Center, which traces crime guns reported by law enforcement. The ATF found that out of 56,262 California crime guns in 2022 (compared to 58,200 reported to AFS the same year):

- 30.63% of crime guns recovered in California were traced to California sales.
- 28.57% of crime guns recovered in California were traced to sales in other states.
- 40.81% of crime guns recovered in California were not traceable to a documented sale in the United States. In 2022, AFS records showed 12,134 total unserialized guns accounting for approximately 20.8% of crime guns in AFS. This means that roughly half of the crime guns reported untraceable by the ATF may be unserialized, while the remainder of these may be serialized firearms obtained through undocumented sales, trafficking, or other means.

Additionally, examining the most recent source event for crime guns that did have prior history in AFS, only 4% contain a self-report or transfer of ownership report while 7% contain a record of a law enforcement agency returning a gun to the owner before it was used in a crime. Of crime guns with a prior record in AFS, 89% were acquired directly from a firearm dealer before being used in a crime. The results show that few crime guns had a recorded change of ownership after a dealer transaction before being used in a crime. This does not indicate, however, that the original purchaser was in possession of the firearm at the time of the crime. Additionally, a firearm may be accessed by an individual other than the purchaser and used in a crime, and crime guns are frequently purchased by straw purchasers and other traffickers who may unlawfully transfer the firearm without a licensed dealer or other recorded transaction, meaning the change of ownership would generally not be reported to DOJ.

PART II: MANDATED STATISTICS AND ANALYSIS: FIREARM DEALER INSPECTIONS

Firearm Dealer Inspections and Violations Identified Through the Inspections

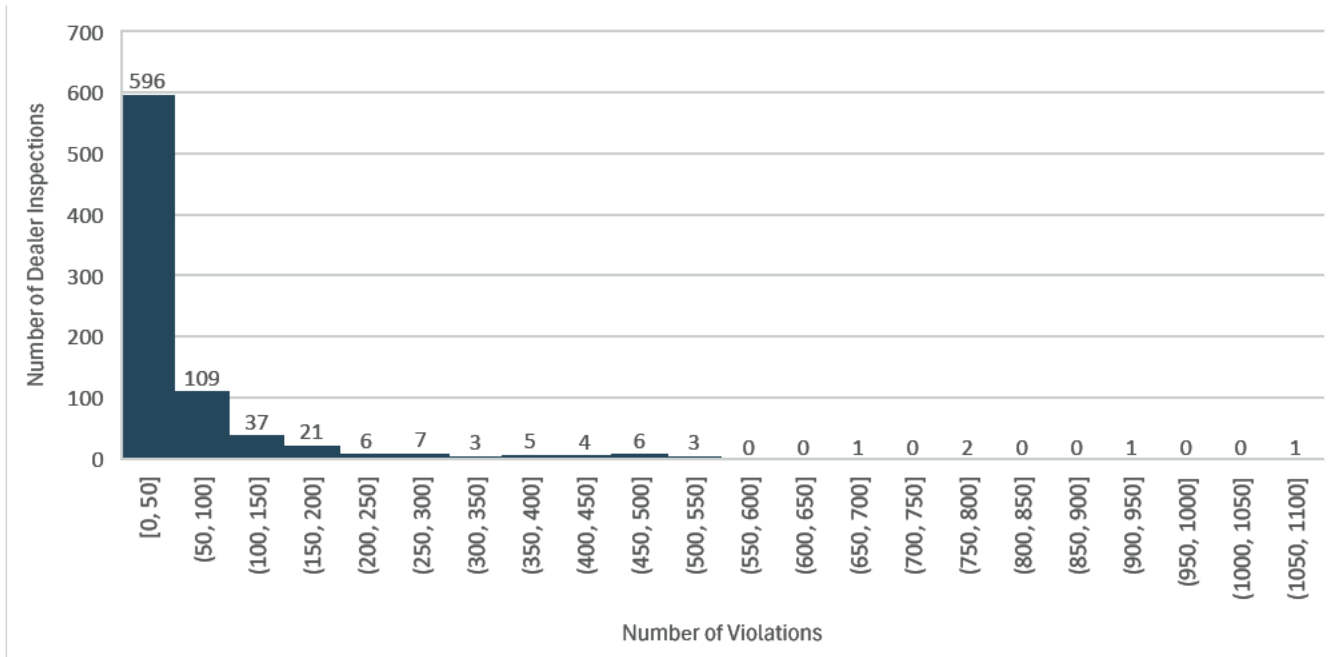

SB 965 requires the report due on July 1, 2025, to include specified information about firearm dealer and ammunition vendor inspections conducted by DOJ from January 1, 2020, to December 31, 2024. It is important to note that firearm dealers are also ammunition vendors (transacting in both firearms and ammunition), but ammunition vendors are only ammunition vendors (transacting in ammunition only). The first inspection from this period was conducted on January 7, 2020, and the latest inspection was on November 19, 2024. During this nearly five-year period, DOJ field representatives conducted 870 inspections for 804 firearms dealers and ammunition vendors. Specifically, 802 of the inspections were for firearms dealers and 68 of them were for ammunition vendors. Throughout these inspections, 41,602 violations were recorded and 35,382 (85%) of them have been resolved. Violations may be considered unresolved for reasons such as: the firearm dealer closed their business prior to correcting some or all violations; the firearm dealer has yet to provide corrections and is still attempting to comply; or the firearm dealer has not complied, and/or is no longer responsive.

Field representatives have spent at least 16,998 hours total on these inspections. The average number of hours spent per inspection was 21 hours and 15 minutes and the median was 13 hours and 30 minutes. The maximum number of hours spent inspecting one dealer was 282 hours, whereas the minimum was two hours and 15 minutes. It should be noted that in some cases, the onsite portion of an inspection (i.e., the time the field representative is at the physical location of the firearms dealer or ammunition vendor) has concluded but the field representative is actively working on post-inspection related items. This means that the number of resolved violations and inspection hours might increase. For dealer level counts of resolved violations and inspection hours spent, see Appendix N and O respectively.

The highest number of violations recorded during a firearm dealer inspection was 1,056³⁷, and zero violations were recorded for 41 dealer inspections. The average number of violations per dealer was 51.87 and the median number of violations was 18. The difference between the average and the median number of violations means that the data is skewed, with a few dealers having a high number of violations and most dealers having fewer violations. The top 100 firearm dealer inspections were associated with 24,961 (60%) of the violations. Figure 20 shows the distribution of violation numbers. As the figure demonstrates, most of the dealers have 50 or fewer violations, and only a small number (39) of the inspections resulted in a violation record above 200. Out of the 802 firearm dealers inspected, 596 had violation counts between zero and 50.

The detailed violation counts per dealer inspection is presented in Appendix J. (Appendix I also presents the raw firearm dealer inspection file which includes more detailed inspection level information). This detailed table shows the number of firearms dealer inspections conducted and, for each inspection, all the following information required under Penal Code section 11108.3, subdivision (g)(2):

- The name of the dealer.
- The dealer's license number.
- The business address of the dealer.
- The number of hours spent to complete the inspection.
- A list of violations identified through the inspection, whether those violations were subsequently resolved and, if so, the date they were resolved, and any fines or penalties assessed.
- The date of reinspection, if applicable, and any violations identified during reinspection.
- The dates of any prior inspections.
- Number of violation types related to missing firearms.

The Number of Firearm Background Checks Submitted and the Outcome of Those Background Checks

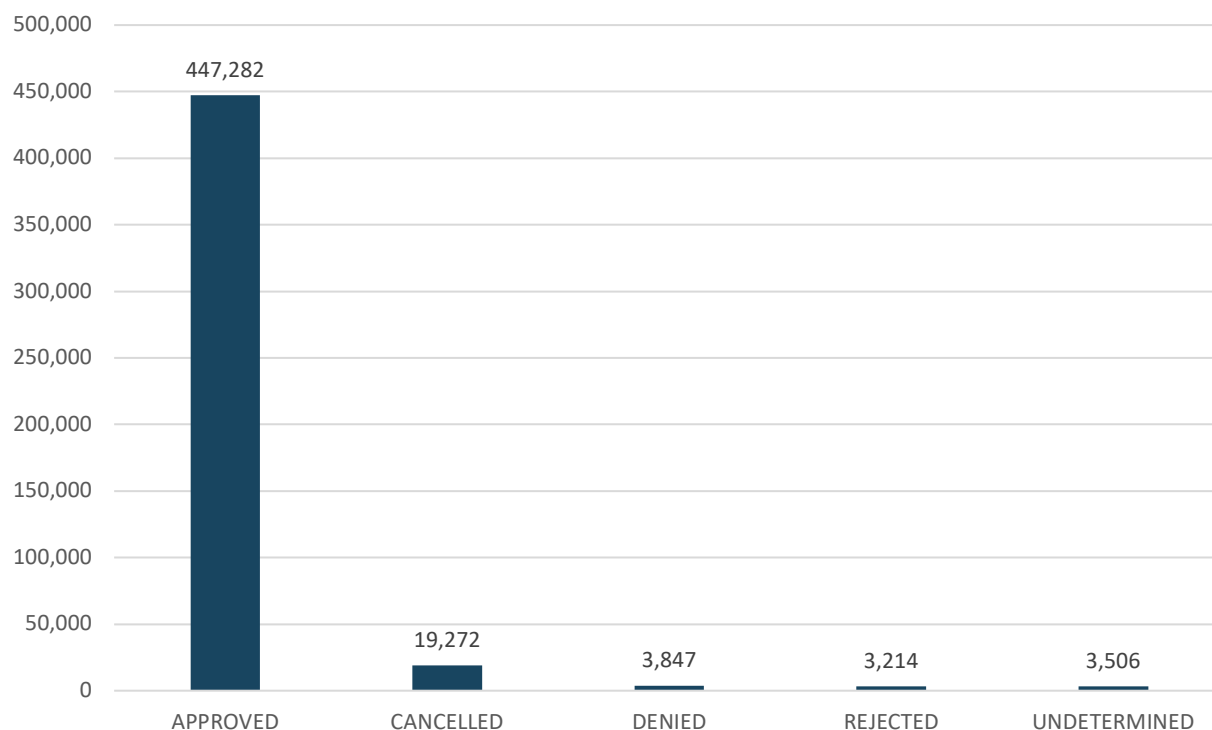

During the one-year period prior to the inspection, 477,120 firearm background checks were submitted by the inspected firearms dealers. The detailed number and outcome of background checks for each dealer is presented in Appendix K. Of the 477,120 background checks conducted during this period:

- 447,282 (93.7%) were approved
- 19,272 (4.1%) were cancelled
- 3,847 (0.8%) were denied
- 3,214 (0.7%) were rejected
- 3,506 (0.7%) were undetermined³⁸

On average, during each one-year period prior to the inspection, 595 background checks were submitted per dealer. The median number of background checks was 93. The maximum number of background checks submitted by one dealer was 11,128 and the minimum is zero (since some dealers did not have any sales during the one-year period before the inspection). Figure 21 shows the number of background checks submitted by firearm dealers and the outcome of those checks.

38 Approved: The Department determined the DROS applicant was eligible to purchase or possess firearms.
Denied: The Department determined the DROS applicant was not eligible to purchase or possess firearms due to a felony conviction, domestic violence conviction, a qualifying misdemeanor conviction, mental health-based event, various types of civil or criminal restraining orders, or other state or federal prohibiting categories.
Undetermined: The Department was unable to ascertain the DROS applicant's eligibility to purchase or possess a firearm within 30 days of the DROS submission, consequently the DROS will result in an "undetermined" determination pursuant to Penal Code section 28220, subdivision (g)(4). In such a case, the dealer has the discretion to either refuse or permit the sale or transfer of the firearm.
Cancelled: The DROS transaction was cancelled by the dealer.
Rejected: Two of the most common rejection reasons are: the applicant attempted to purchase a firearm with an invalid, suspended, revoked, or expired California driver's license or California identification card (California Penal Code sections 16400 and 26815) and the applicant attempted to purchase or receive a firearm that matched an entry in the DOJ Automated Firearms System (AFS) indicating the firearm is stolen (California Penal Code section 28220(d)). Please note: this list is not inclusive of all rejection reasons.

Number of Crime Guns Traced to a Dealer and the Percentage of Total Sales by the Dealer

In the one-year period prior to their inspection, the inspected dealers sold a total of 452,358 firearms. The average number of firearms sold by each inspected dealer was 564 (with a median of 90). The large difference between the mean and median indicate an uneven distribution of firearm sales across dealers, with some dealers responsible for a high number of crime guns. The total number of crime guns recovered from these dealers during the same period was 612. Each dealer inspected sold an average of 0.76 firearms that were later recovered as a crime gun within the same one-year period prior to inspection (with a median of zero). Of the 802 dealers inspected, 612 had zero associated crime guns. The highest crime gun to sales percentage was 11.76. More detailed information about recovered crime guns and firearms sales traced back to each inspected dealer is presented in Appendix L.

It should be noted that this data, shown in Appendix Table L, shows the number of firearms that were sold by a dealer in the one-year period prior to DOJ inspection that were then also recovered from crime within this same one-year period prior to inspection. The decision to constrain this analysis to these short-TTC crime guns was made for better comparability between dealers.³⁹

³⁹ If this analysis instead compared a dealer's one-year sales volume to the number of crime guns recovered in that year regardless of when that crime gun was originally sold, the analysis would be biased against dealers that had been in operation for a longer period of time and might inaccurately suggest that relatively newer dealers had a comparatively lower percentage of sales recovered from crime.

The Number of Firearms Reported or Discovered Lost or Stolen

As mentioned earlier, the report was unable to identify the number of firearms that the dealer reported or discovered lost or stolen during the one-year period prior to the inspection since this data was not specifically collected during the inspection, and the information is also not available in the AFS. Although the AFS has a lost/stolen flag for firearms, it does not have any associated dealer identification number linked to the reporting dealer. However, BOF's firearm dealer inspections identified some dealer violations related to missing/unaccounted firearms. There were a total of 68 such cases. Among 736 inspected dealers, only 66 had recorded violations due to missing/unaccounted firearms. Two of these dealers had two related violations, and the remaining 64 had one violation. Appendix M shows the number of violation types related to missing firearms.

Ammunition Vendor Inspections and Violations Identified Through the Inspections

Appendix P presents the inspection level information for ammunition vendors. This appendix shows the number of inspections conducted and, for each inspection, all the following information required under Penal Code section 11108.3, subdivision (g)(3):

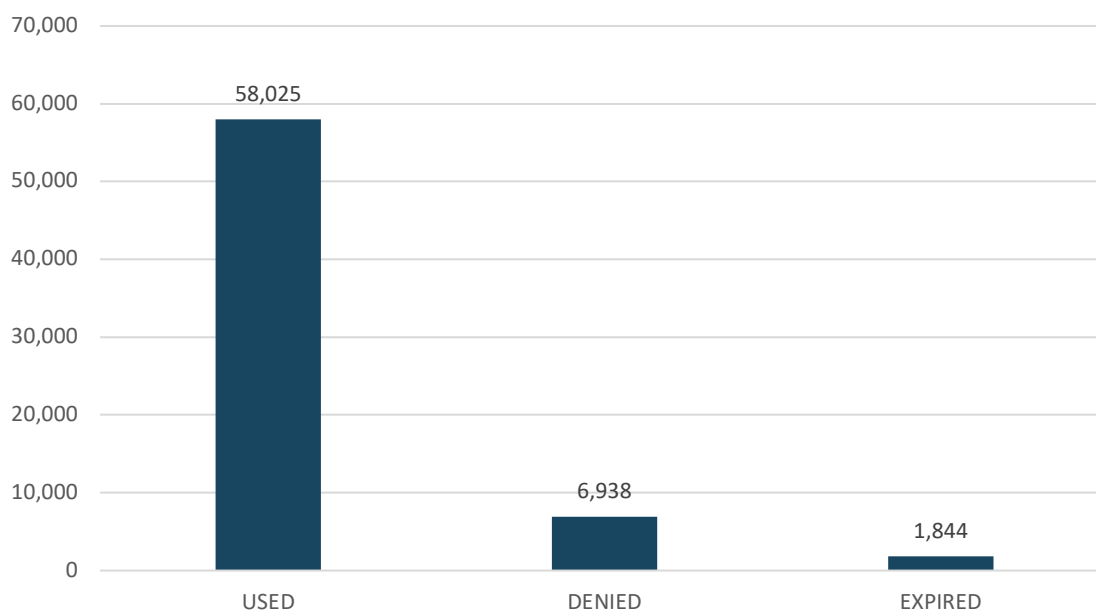

- The name of the vendor.
- The vendor's license number.
- The business address of the vendor.
- The number of hours spent to complete the inspection.
- A list of violations identified through the inspection, whether those violations were subsequently resolved and, if so, the date they were resolved, and any fines or penalties assessed.
- The date of reinspection, if applicable, and any violations identified during reinspection.
- The dates of any prior inspections.

During the one-year period prior to the inspection, 68 vendors were inspected and a total of 975 violations were recorded. 967 (99%) of those violations were resolved (see Appendix S for more detailed information about resolved violations per dealer). BOF field representatives spent a total of 623 hours on these inspections. The average number of hours spent inspecting each ammunition vendor was nine. The highest number of hours spent inspecting one ammunition vendor was 58, and the lowest was three (see Appendix T for vendor level counts of inspection hours). On average, 14 violations were recorded for each ammunition vendor (with a median of one). The highest number of violations recorded for one ammunition vendor was 685, and the lowest was zero. Among the 68 total inspected vendors, 25 had zero recorded violations. The difference between the highest and lowest number of recorded violations (and between the mean and the median number of violations) is very significant, which indicates that the distribution of violation counts is quite skewed. Appendix R demonstrates aggregated violation counts per each inspected vendor.

The Number of Ammunition Background Checks Submitted and the Outcome of Those Background Checks

During the one-year period prior to the inspection, the inspected ammunition vendors submitted a total of 66,807 background checks. 58,025 (87%) of the submitted background checks were “used”, 6,938 (10%) were “denied”, and 1,844 (3%) were “expired” (Figure 22).⁴⁰ On average, each vendor submitted 1,113 background checks. The highest number of background checks submitted by a single vendor was 16,984 and the lowest was zero (some vendors did not have any sales in the one-year period prior to the inspection). Appendix Q shows the number of background checks as well as the outcome of those background checks for each vendor inspected.

The Amount of Ammunition Reported or Discovered Lost or Stolen

The amount of ammunition reported or discovered lost or stolen is not currently collected via the inspection process. Also, AFS does not record specific events of lost or stolen ammunition for the DOJ to examine. As a result, no such event records exist, and this analysis could not be completed due to data unavailability.

Statistics for the California Roster of Certified Handguns

For the years 2020 through 2024, Table 3 presents data on the number of handguns added to and removed from the Handgun Roster, the number of handguns denied for listing on the Handgun Roster, and the number of handguns on the Handgun Roster as of December 31 of each year. Between 2020 and 2024, 215 handguns were added to the Handgun Roster while 87 handguns were removed from it.

During the same period, 60 handguns were denied for listing on the Handgun Roster. As of December 31, 2024, there were 930 handguns on the Handgun Roster.

Table 3: Statistics for the California Roster of Certified Handguns (Handgun Roster), 2020-2024

Year	Number of Handguns Added to the Handgun Roster	Number of Handguns Removed from the Handgun Roster	Number of Handguns Denied for Listing on the Handgun Roster	Number of Handguns on the Handgun Roster as of December 31
2020	44	4	3	841
2021	9	38	11	812
2022	50	33	4	829
2023	63	5	26	888
2024	49	7	16	930
Total	215	87	60	-

Table 4 summarizes the reasons for the removal of handguns from the Handgun Roster from 2020 through 2024. In 67 instances, handguns were removed because the manufacturer declined to renew the handgun’s listing on the Handgun Roster in accordance with Penal Code section 32015, subdivision (b) and California Code of Regulations, title 11, sections 4070 through 4072. In 20 instances, handguns were removed because the DOJ determined that the handgun model being sold had modifications from the model that was tested and approved for listing on the Handgun Roster.

Table 4: Summary of Reasons for Removal of Handguns from the Handgun Roster, 2020–2024

Removal Reason	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024

Table 5 provides a summary of reasons for handguns denied approval to be listed on the Handgun Roster for each year from 2020 through 2024, while Table 6 shows the aggregated counts for each denial reason. As seen in Table 6, the top reason for denial (33 cases) was that the handgun failed to meet the requirements for listing an untested handgun under Penal Code section 32030.
